MORE fireworks in Wall Street. General Motors climbed to 199. Nothing gayer than fireworks. But be sure the rocket stick doesn't hit you on the way down.

A STOCK EXCHANGE seat sold for $275,000—$25,000 more than Saturday's price. Exchange seats will go to half a million, and then the 1,100 seats on the Stock Exchange will be worth $550,000,000. When Russell Sage and Jay Gould were active you could have bought them all for $55,000. Everything goes up.

THAT'S one side of the picture. The other side is supplied by Mr. Davis, secretary of labor, who tells the Senate that "unemployment is serious."

Stocks increasing in value more than a thousand millions in a day, and 1,847,050 men out of work do not make a pretty combination.

WHEN Burke wept over "Poor Marie Antoinette" Fox told him he saw the fine feathers, but forgot the dying bird. He could see the fancifully dressed Royal Austrian woman, not the French peasants starving to death.

CHICAGO'S chief of police, smashing gambling house doors, says, "there will always be gambling. Everything in life is a gamble." That is inaccurate. Building public schools, radio sets, automobiles, or telephones, is not a gamble. Real work and honesty are not; gambling is a vicious substitute for such things.

THEY buried "Diamond Joe" Esposito, his own followers having shot 58 slugs into his back. It had been planned to have two airplanes fly low and drop 10,000 roses along the funeral road from the Holy Family Church to Mount Carmel Cemetery.

Very pretty, but if what the Bible says and what Joe Esposito's intimates say is true, Joe, as he looked up at the falling roses, might have laughed.

WITHOUT lifeboats, emergency rations or radio, three Germans, Capt. Herman Koehl, Baron Von Hüenefeld and Arthur Spindler, started yesterday westward over the Atlantic to America. Stopping in Dublin, for fuel, they expect to get here tomorrow. Everybody's good wishes go with these courageous men, gladly risking their lives in the cause of progress.

THE Italian steamship line is first to install the use of the "auxiliary air taxi." The "Conte Grande," on her way to Europe, will shoot an airplane from her decks at Gibraltar and send you wherever you want to go in Europe.

"Do it now" is Mussolini's motto.

YALE seniors place Lindbergh far above Mussolini, because the young gentlemen understand what Lindbergh has done. Few of them know what Mussolini has done.

You can't compare a magnificent flying eagle with a man fighting the menace of anarchy, which is Mussolini's job, or with such a man as old Baron Von Stein refusing to be discouraged or cowed by the power of Napoleon.

THE infant death rate is down in Pennsylvania and New York. And that's the most important "crop news" this year.

THE WEATHER

Fair and continued cold tonight. Wednesday fair, with rising temperature; lowest temperature tonight between 15 and 20 degrees.

Here for Bridge Opening

The truth of that wise old saw, "Never tickle a lion's upper teeth," was never more pertinently expressed than it is this howling day. March by tradition is slated to enter like a lion and exit like a lamb—unless somebody violates the old saw. Somebody did. And see what happens! Of 120,000,000 humans on this side of the Statue of Liberty one was short-sighted enough to invite the wrath of the fondly-described King of Beasts by tickling an upper molar. Pity the artist's poor lamb that is leading the enraged lion a merciless chase. High temperature Monday was 73 degrees and low Tuesday was 25 degrees—and it will go lower, in fact to 15 degrees, says the weather man.

BOMBS FORCE U. S. INTO CLEANUP OF CHICAGO

By FRANCIS F. HEALY,
International News Service

CHICAGO, March 27.—Shocked when the forces of gangland or politicians or both culminated the series of bombing outrages by planting a dynamite blast at the doorway of the home of United States Senator Charles S. Deneen and Judge John A. Swanson, Chicago today began a frenzied, sweeping investigation with charges and cross-charges hurled by political leaders of both factions.

The long arm of the federal government, which so far has refused to interfere with Chicago crime conditions, today, for the first time launched a probe of the bombings which partially wrecked the homes of Swanson and Deneen.

Bitterly, State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe assailed the blasts as the work of Deneen's own organization, which, he said, "realized defeat in the coming elections" and sought thus to place the blame upon the opposite party.

More bitterly, if possible, Judge Swanson, candidate for the office of state's attorney in opposition to Crowe, aimed broadcasts at the Thompson-Crowe-Smull party. Swanson blamed the blasts as the work of hoodlums, "politically directed," in revenge for the supposed direction by Deneen of a cleanup of booze rings and vice dens in Chicago.

The federal government, through its agent, District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson, blamed the bombings upon political enemies of Deneen, who feared the outcome of the coming election.

CALLS MINERS IN WEST VA. SERFS

FEUDAL RULE IS BARED

By MAX HENRICI,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Miners in Logan county, W. Va., live a life comparable with that of serfs in a feudal barony of the Middle Ages, Capt. Percy Tetlow, president of District No. 17 of the United Mine Workers, told the Senate coal investigation committee today.

They are refused the right of local self-government, he said, and denied the privilege of owning their homes.

They are required to deal at their employers' stores, according to Tetlow, at prices from 20 to 25 per cent higher than they would have to pay at Charleston.

It is not easy to get in or out of the county, he asserted, and the coal companies virtually own it. There is only one incorporated town.

Tetlow, a one-armed former soldier, who was wounded in the Spanish-American War and commanded a machine gun company in the World War, said it was as much as a union organizer's life was worth to try to go into Logan county. The county is policed by deputy sheriffs and mine guards, employed by the coal companies, he stated, and the union never has been permitted to gain a foothold there.

Seat of Mine Cancer

It was in Logan county, according to him, that the cancer originated, which has practically killed the United Mine Workers' organization in West Virginia, and spread woe and desolation throughout the soft coal fields in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

Logan county is a big producing center, turning out 15,000,000 tons of coal a year. Ruling with despotic sway, and holding the miners virtually as peons, the coal operators there, Capt. Tetlow declared, paid such wages as they chose, and

Skids Put On Stock Market

By W. S. COUSINS,
International News Service.

NEW YORK, March 27.—The inevitable relapse in the wild and boisterous forward movement in stock prices which has been raging for a period of three weeks came with lightning rapidity today, and within a half-hour after the sounding of the opening gong on the big board prices of leading speculative stocks crashed 5 to 20 points.

As General Motors had been the leader in sensational movements in record-breaking markets since March 3, the sharp downward pace set by this stock today was taken as the signal for abrupt selling in other sections. When General Motors, instead of pushing forward gallantly to above 200, as had been freely predicted, declined sharply to 191 for an 8-point loss, the big selling movement was "on."

After crashing to 180 for a 19-point loss, General Motors recovered in good order to around 188, where

MORE "PRIVATE WORK" CHARGES HIT CITY

Additional charges of private work done by employes of the Department of Public Works with city trucks and materials were received by Council today.

In a letter made public by Councilman John S. Herron, W. H. Forman, of 6724 Kelly street, charged that city workmen have been engaged in cleaning a sewer at "the Bigger property on Kelly street." This reference, Herron said, is to the residence of Rachel S. Bigger, 6717 Kelly street.

According to Forman, a city crew was at work there several times in February. On March 7, he charged, city wagon No. 38 drove to the house. Three men unloaded a hose and worked about the premises, apparently cleaning a sewer.

Charles A. Hillegas, Republican chairman of the Thirteenth Ward, in which that section of Kelly street is located, is head of the Bureau of Highways and Sewers, under the Department of Public Works.

Herron, who is a resident of the same ward, announced today he would demand a report from Director Edward G. Lang, who, a few days ago, issued an ultimatum that employes who engage in private work would be summarily dismissed. The order was the second against the practice issued by Lang.

Smallpox Closes School

Stewart School at Library, where smallpox broke out in the Pittsburgh Coal Company settlement at Montour Mine No. 10, was closed this morning. Fear of the disease spreading among the children is said to have prompted the action on the part of the school board. Stewart School has eight rooms, with about 500 pupils.

Two cases of smallpox have been reported to the State Department of Health from Montour No. 10 and a third at Cokeburg, Washington county, was traced to Library, according to Dr. John R. Conover, county medical director. Another case was reported last Friday from Mollenauer, near Library, in the company houses of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation.

One victim at Montour No. 10 is Mrs. Al Williams, 25, white. She contracted the disease on March 13, according to the state record. It is only a mild case and all contacts have been vaccinated, according to Dr. Conover, who says there is no danger of the infection spreading. John Sterling, white, 45, contracted the disease at Mollenauer. He came into the Pittsburgh Terminal camp from Yorkville, O., where it is believed he became infected, according to state health authorities.

Liberty Bridge Open

The South Hills district turned out en masse today to celebrate the opening of the new Liberty Bridge.

The most colorful, brilliant and enthusiastic parade in the history of the boroughs south of the Liberty Tunnels coursed through the district, into Pittsburgh and onto the new bridge to show mass appreciation for the new improvement.

West Liberty avenue and adjoining streets were decorated from end to end with flags, bunting and gay colors and the entire community wore a gala dress.

FLOATS IN LINE

Leaving Mt. Lebanon at 1 o'clock the parade wound its way down West Liberty avenue, over Warrington avenue and down Brownsville avenue to Carson street, where it coursed over the Smithfield Street Bridge into the city. Turning up Sixth avenue the long array of marchers proceeded to the Forbes street entrance to the Liberty Bridge and halted in the center of the span, where presentation ceremonies took place.

The parade comprised a large convoy of motorcycle police, city and county officials and borough dignitaries in machines, floats of the various South Hills districts and many fancifully decorated automobiles. Daylight aerial fireworks, both at the start of the parade and on the Liberty Bridge, were a feature of the celebration.

The ceremonies in the center of the span consisted of the presentation of the new bridge to the county commissioners by Norman S. Brown, director of the Allegheny County Department of Public Works, and they in turn presented the bridge to the public.

Tonight at 6 o'clock the South Hills districts will tender to the

"LOOKS HOOVERISH"—WILL

His Excellency, The Ambassador Without Portfolio, in his suite at the William Penn Hotel today dismissed his secretaries, counsellors, aides and attaches, and bending over his portable typewriter, wrote his concluding report on his mission to Mexico. It ran something like this:

"Dear Cal—In Mexico the only tomorrow is Dwight Morrow. Since he went there they're doing it now, today.

"Promptly yours,
"WILL ROGERS."

Having finished his ambassadorial correspondence, His Excellency leaned back in his chair and queried:

"Tell us about your Uncle Andy, the greatest Secretary of the Treasury since Carter Glass. What's Mr. Mellon going to do with the bunch of hand-picked delegates that he expects to take to Kansas City? Dump 'em into the Hoover hopper? Everything looks Hooverish all over the map, but it all depends—depends on what is indicated in the happenings at Houston. If the Democrats put Al over, then just watch the rally of the Green Mountain Boys and the bringing forth of Silent Cal, whether he chooses or eschews the nomination. Jim Reed, out west, is running like a volunteer fire department to a blaze in a bootlegger's cellar. I would like to see Jim given a life job making the President's speeches."

Ambassador Rogers will lecture at Carnegie Hall tonight.

Tell How Boy Tried To Cover Up Murder

3 TESTIFY AGAINST YOUTH

Fighting for his life, Alvin Hess, 16, Homestead youth, accused with Robert Stevens, 14, of killing an unidentified white man on the Monongahela River bank, near Browns Bridge, last September, heard three boys tell how he had tried to keep them from discovering the crime. Later in the day Stevens was scheduled to take the stand and tell of the murder.

The two prisoners, who are said to have confessed to the crime, are said to have obtained $3.75 from the victim after beating him with a pick handle. Separate trials have been granted the boys, Hess being called for trial yesterday.

Walter Zogran, 14, of Homestead Park, said he met Hess and Stevens on the river bank and they refused to allow him to enter a clump of bushes to pick haws, Hess saying city detectives were in the thicket. He said later Hess came out with what he thought was a black bag, and with Stevens, walked toward Browns Bridge. After they left, Zogran entered the thicket and saw the body and then notified Oscar W. Carl, Homestead steel worker.

Carl detailed his visit to the scene and of sending the victim to the hospital. He found the victim's coat 200 feet from the body with the pockets turned inside out.

Andrew Bacho, 13, Homestead, corroborated Zogran, in all but one particular.

He said Stevens carried the victim's coat. Joe Slinshock, 14, of Homestead, companion of Zogran, and Bacho, gave similar testimony.

Deneen Hears Of Bombing at Connellsville

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., March 27.—Senator Charles S. Deneen, of Illinois, a passenger on a Washington-bound Baltimore and Ohio Railroad train, was informed that his home in Chicago had been bombed when the train stopped here this morning. Much relieved when he was told that none of the members of his household was injured in the blast, he went back to his berth after stating he would telegraph his home as soon as the train reached Washington this morning.

Motion pictures, shown for the first time in a damage suit in Common Pleas Court, won a verdict for the Pennsylvania Railroad, defendant in an action brought by a downtown department store.

A store truck was demolished when struck by a train at a crossing in Blawnox in 1924. In the courtroom yesterday a curtain was rigged up on the rear wall, and Judge Harry H. Rowand and the jury were shown a train approaching a crossing. The verdict was returned today.

FIVE KILLED IN GEORGIA TORNADO

International News Service.

CANTON, Ga., March 27.—Five persons are dead and 11 others injured, four probably fatally, in the wake of a tornado which swept Cherokee county, Ga., late last night, according to delayed reports received here today.

The dead are Mr. and Mrs. William Milwood; their son, Allen, 16; their daughter, Estelle, 14, and Ossie Heath, 21.

The Milwood family was wiped out when their house collapsed, the bodies being found under the wreckage this morning by a passerby. Heath also was crushed when his house collapsed, his wife and baby also being injured.

BANDITS ROB PHARMACY

Brandishing revolvers shortly after entering the Shadyside pharmacy, 5211 Fifth avenue, late last night, three bandits forced Dixon McKee, a clerk, to stand aside while they took about $100 from the cash register. The men escaped in an automobile in which an accomplice had been waiting.

"WALKING ARSENAL" HELD FOR OBSERVATION

Two revolvers, 49 bullets and 33 blank cartridges were found on Robert Howley, 52, of 615 Arch street, when he landed at the Allegheny Police Station last night for not paying an $8 taxicab bill.

In police court today he said he would pay the cab fare. He did—with a worthless check. He was turned over to the welfare department.

'PEACHES' FIGURES IN LOVE TRIANGLE AS HEIRESS BRIDE CASTS OUT MATE

"HE WAS ONLY FRIEND," SAYS "DADDY'S" GIRL

International News Service

NEW YORK, March 27.—Frances "Peaches" Browning, back in the spotlight of publicity, played to capacity audiences at a vaudeville house today while the rift between her booking agent, Edgar Allen, and his wife grew wider.

The trouble started when Mrs. Allen thought she recognized a glittering bracelet worn by "Peaches" as one of her own. The heiress bride immediately packed up all of her husband's belongings and shipped them to a hotel where the wife of Edward ("Daddy") Browning was stopping.

The rift between the Allens was accentuated further today when four private detectives were seen guarding the Allen home at Larchmont, N. Y. It was said the sleuths had orders not to admit Allen into the house.

The outraged husband, at a New York hotel, intimated he would sue his wife for a separation.

"Peaches," at another hotel, said she intended to sue Mrs. Allen for slander.

"Mr. Allen is a fine man and he has been kind to me," said the budding theatrical star. "I have been at his home, with my mother, and we left at midnight. There is nothing more to the story."

"Daddy" Browning, who obtained a separation from the former Frances Heenan, furnished a further sensation by refusing to comment.

it was well bought by pools and professionals. Swept along in the same channel were Chrysler, Hupp, Hudson and Nash, which at the opening of the market had staged an impressive "bull demonstration," advancing 1 to 3 points on initial sales as high as 25,000 shares. Sears Roebuck dropped abruptly to 96 for a 14-point loss and Montgomery Ward gave up practically all of the 10 points gained in yesterday's session. United States Steel lost about 4½ points and various specialties 3 to 7 points.

With the ticker 31 minutes behind the market, it was estimated that transactions had crossed the 2,000,000-share market before noon, and the market was on its way to breaking yesterday's four and a quarter million share record.

Shortly after the noon period buying support made its way into the market. Powerful traders were ready to buy back their favorite stocks on the theory that the break in the market arose from purely technical factors, and that the rally would be as impressive as the break. From a low of 180 General Motors rallied sharply to 190; Sears-Roebuck from 97 to 106 and good recoveries were scored by the popular motor stocks. The rails inaugurated a new forward movement, under the lead of Baltimore and Ohio, New York Central and New Haven, and Radio was an aggressive leader in the specialties.

partment of Justice and every investigating agency of the United States government will be called in to find the perpetrators of the bombings, Johnson said.

"GANGLAND'S REPLY"

The police, through Capt. Michael Lee, of the district in which the bombings occurred, theorized the blasts as gangland's answer to the campaign of Deneen to clean up existing criminal activities in Chicago.

"It is inconceivable that a man or his political party would have his own home bombed, with possible danger to his own children, for political aspirations," was Judge Swanson's answer to Crowe's charge the blasts were the work of the Deneen party.

The homes of six politicians in Chicago have been bombed in the last two months. Fifty-nine bombings have been recorded here since last October 11, all of which were presumably aimed "to persuade."

The bombs last night were set off within an hour of each other. The bomb aimed at the home of Swanson was hurled at his automobile as it passed up his driveway, giving police the impression the men who hurled the implement meant to assassinate the Judge.

Latrobe Is Swept By $200,000 Fire

OPERATORS "STICK" TO CALL AID

LATROBE, Pa., March 27.—Fanned by a high wind, flames swept the business district of Latrobe this morning, causing a loss of between $160,000 and $200,000. Thirty-five automobiles were destroyed in one garage.

Starting at 5 a. m. in the Latrobe Dairy plant, a two-story structure, the flames leaped to the W. C. Paxton garage at Jefferson and Depot streets, then to the harness shop of Albert Bernas and the Murdock Ice Cream Company. After the firemen had battled an hour the flames were carried across Jefferson street and ignited the Lowenstein building, a three-story brick, occupied on the first floor by the Lowenstein Department Store and on the second floor by the R. L. Durham Studio, headquarters of the Council of Jewish Women, the tax collector's office and the dental offices of Cooke & Cossart.

CARRY OUT BODY

The furniture store of John Weiss also was burned, together with several smaller buildings.

From the home of Ruben Myers, the body of his daughter, Mrs. William Kirschner, 35, who died yesterday, was carried out by firemen.

R. L. Durham, with living quarters adjoining his studio, had a narrow escape in getting out of the building and was slightly cut by glass and partly overcome by smoke.

Fire Chief John Ackerman was overcome while directing his men and was taken to Latrobe Hospital.

Firemen were summoned from Greensburg, Ligonier, Derry and Jeannette. The fire was brought under control at 8 o'clock, but firemen toiled for hours longer before the last flames were extinguished.

Two telephone operators, Hazel Johnson and Mary Obner, discovered the fire and summoned the firemen. Despite dense clouds of smoke carried by a 60-mile-an-hour wind toward their office, they continued on duty and kept telephone lines open. They called firemen from Ligonier, Derry and Greensburg, when the local firemen found the gale was driving the flames beyond their control.

Borah will plead for funds to repay the "debt of honor," he said, in a radio speech Thursday night. He has received about $6,500 in his single-handed campaign to repay the Sinclair gifts.

VARE DATA DEMANDED HERE

Demanding every scrap of paper that would throw light on the Vare-Wilson election, November 2, 1926, Deputy Sergeant-at-Arms John J. McGrain, of the United States Senate, walked into the county commissioners' office today and presented a subpena from Washington.

The commissioners hurried to comply with the subpena but found that the mass of records sought could not be assembled before tomorrow. They called a special meeting for tomorrow morning at which McGrain will be present and at which, it is indicated, all records available will be turned over for use by the sub-committee of the Senate conducting a recount of ballots.

FIGURES SOUGHT

The subpena called for the delivery of advertisements for bids on printing of ballots; the record of bids received; all contracts and papers showing the number of ballots printed, and the number issued to each election precinct in Pittsburgh and the boroughs of Braddock, Homestead, Rankin and McKees Rocks.

Receipts also were demanded for ballots delivered to the polling places as well as records of the disposition of unused ballots in the city and four boroughs named.

This mass of data will augment the ballots and papers heretofore turned over by the county to the Senate.

The subpena bore the signature of Samuel N. Shortridge, chairman of the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections, and was taken to indicate the committee will seek to uncover evidence of fraud charged by Wilson supporters.

The Bureau of Elections, of which Gilbert C. Cloonan is the head, and James R. Routley, assistant chief clerk of the commissioners, were directed by the commissioners to delve into filing cases for the records sought.

ROYAL WELCOME -:- AS JAIL OPENS -:- FOR PICKETS

FREEDOM YAWNS!

"COMING OUT"

Sixty-four mine strikers went to jail to test the legality of Sheriff Robert H. Braun's proclamation. The sheriff thought it would work an unnecessary hardship on the men to make them stay in jail until after their trial, so they have been released.

"HELLO!"

Anna Louise and Jay Shook were on hand to greet their father, George Shook, when he came out of the jail. "My boy friend is in there, too," Jay spoke up proudly, "and I'll be glad to see him again, you can bet." The girls work in Pittsburgh, but live in Cuddy, near Treveskyn.

The wheels of justice moved slowly. Officials of the United Mine Workers accompanied Sheriff Braun into court, but it was 4 o'clock in the afternoon before the pickets were taken from the jail to the clerk of courts' office to sign papers for their release. They were freed on their own recognizances. All had refused to post $500 bail each.

Four trucks were waiting in the Boulevard of the Allies to carry the pickets back to their homes. About 50 strikers brought a band and were prepared to extend the real greeting to their buddies. The pickets piled into the trucks and were taken for a ride around town and then out to Carnegie, past the office of Justice of the Peace A. W. McMillen, who committed them to jail in default of bail, after which they returned to their homes.

DOVER, O., March 27.—Murder charges pending against William Herron, New Philadelphia, were to be heard today following the discovery of the body of Miss Viola May, 23, in the Tuscarawas River, late yesterday. The girl had been missing since February 7. Her body was found lodged in a tree where the river skirts the industrial section of the town.

According to a confession reported to have been made by Herron the day after the girls' disappearance, she was choked to death by him after an attack upon her. Herron, who was her brother-in-law, at first reported that he and the girl had been attacked by robbers, but later told authorities he threw her body into the river when he learned she was dead.

Herron was accompanying the girl to her residence from his home on the night of February 7, after she had visited her sister, Herron's wife.

Reports of physicians who examined the girl's body are expected to be withheld, though the examination is said to have indicated that the girl was dead when her body was thrown into the water, and that no evidence of an attack was found.

The girl's wrist watch and $7 were found on the body

WINS $20,000 IN CAB CRASH

A few minutes before the case was given to the jury today in Common Pleas Court, the Pittsburgh Transportation Company, operator of Green Cab, and the Yellow Cab Company, settled for $20,000 the $50,000 damage suit which had been brought against them by Mrs. Kitty Roush of Almeda street, Hazelwood.

Mrs. Roush's right arm was paralyzed on August 5, 1926, when a Green cab in which she was riding collided with a Yellow cab.

Lindy "Shrine" Forbidden by Court

DETROIT, Mich., March 27.—(AP.)—A temporary order restraining occupants of a house here where Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was born, from converting the property into a "Lindbergh Museum," was granted yesterday by Circuit Judge Arthur Webster.

The order was granted Mrs. Stella M. Jewett, who said she is buying the property, against William H. Hicks, to whom she said she leased it for a period of one year, beginning last November 1.

Mrs. Jewett said in her petition that Hicks, in violation of his lease, has sub-leased the the house to Sherman J. Yarick and Winifred Yarick, who with Clark C. Doughty, a Chicago promoter, plan to turn it into a museum and charge admission, selling "Lindbergh souvenirs."

FUGITIVE IN JAIL AS SLEUTH HUNTS HIM

For six months Government Narcotic Agent William T. Duffy has searched for Willie (Six-foot Slim) Lang, Negro, 31, who has been indicted as a dope peddler and who escaped in raids on dope dives in Homestead and Sharon.

Duffy learned today Willie has been in the Erie county penitentiary, Buffalo, since December, for toting a gun.

LEAVES ALL TO SISTER IN 10-WORD WILL

The 10-word will of Martha May Hanna, of Swissvale, left her $15,000 estate to her sister, Ida Hanna Wagner. "I leave everything to my sister, my money and property," wrote Miss Hanna.

W. G. Gundelfinger, of Crafton, left his $25,000 estate to his widow and children and Charles W. Klicker, Ben Avon, left $35,000 to his three children.

PENN AVENUE MAN HIT BY TAXICAB

When he walked in front of a taxicab in Bigelow boulevard near Washington street early today, cab, took Anop to the West Penn Michael Anop, of 1622 Penn avenue, was knocked to the street and injured seriously. Elmer Brooks, of 341 Virginia avenue, driver of the cab, took Anop to the West Penn Hospital, where it was said he had suffered internal injuries and a broken left leg. Witnesses told police the accident was unavoidable and Brooks was not arrested.

MOPPING UP WYLIE AVENUE

While hundreds of spectators watched, 33 prohibition agents raided and confiscated large quantities of booze in 13 Wylie avenue saloons and speakeasies, in an "extensive cleanup campaign." The photo shows a raid in progress at a saloon at 2154 Wylie avenue, where a quantity of alleged bonded liquor was seized.

FIND NO CLUE TO SLAYERS OF MINER

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 27.—Aside from satisfying themselves that George Stanovich, 37, brutally slain near Centerville Saturday morning, was killed because he deserted the United Mine Workers and accepted employment in the Richeyville mine of the Vesta Coal Company, which is being operated non-union, county authorities stated last night that little progress had been made.

Scores of persons have been questioned since the finding of Stanovich's body, but none could furnish any clue as to the murderers. Stanovich apparently was alone when he was waylaid by his enemies, who secreted themselves behind two haystacks on the W. A. Deems farm.

Stanovich formerly lived at Castle Shannon and was a former union coal miner. He had a wife and four children, two boys and two girls. The family becoming needy, he left Castle Shannon, moved to a farm at Clover Hill, in West Pike Run township, probably four or five miles from the Richeyville mine. Other men employed at this mine resided near where Stanovich lived.

Hot, nourishing, delicious—and so easily made!

Here's a wonderful drink for children!

ARE you one of the thousands of mothers who have been searching for a mealtime drink your children will like—and that is good for them? Try Instant Postum made with milk! Your children will love it!

For here is a "grown-up" drink—a drink "like Daddy's"—the kind of drink your children are always teasing you to give them. It is delicious, appetizing, with a flavor children immediately like.

And it's nourishing—not harmful. A drink that combines the wholesomeness of whole wheat and bran with the body-building nourishment of milk.

Just put a teaspoonful of Instant Postum in a cup, pour in hot (not boiled) milk, stir, add sugar to taste—this wholesome drink is ready! A drink that children like—even children who do not like milk alone. And it eliminates the danger of caffein, the beverage drug that yearly takes its toll of health and happiness. There is not the trace of a drug in Postum!

Your grocer has Instant Postum. Order it today—serve it to your children tomorrow! And try it yourself—made with either milk or boiling water. Better still, make Postum your mealtime drink for thirty days. Then judge its benefits to your health! You'll never want to go back to mealtime doses of caffein!

GOES TO JAIL IN HUSBAND'S STEAD

BEAVER, Pa., March 27.—So that her husband might support their six children, Mrs. Victoria Peirce, 37, of New Brighton, has gone to jail in his place—and the court has approved the substitution!

Julius Peirce pleaded guilty to making and keeping moonshine and was sentenced to six months in jail.

"If your wife comes in and pleads I'll release you," Judge Frank E. Reader told the father of six children.

Mrs. Peirce not only pleaded guilty but took all the blame for presence of liquor in their home. She was sentenced to six months in jail and a $250 fine.

YOUNG THUGS LOSE NERVE

"Cold feet" afflicted John and Nick Derembeis, brothers, 17 and 16, respectively, of 3251 Parkview street, when their holdup victims appeared at Fifth and Shady avenues at 2 o'clock this morning, police testified in Morals Court today. The prisoners were held for court, charged with carrying concealed weapons.

Each was armed with an unloaded 35-caliber revolver, Patrolman Fred Smith testified, when he stopped them. According to the patrolman, the boys admitted buying the revolvers for holdups, but they said they lost their nerve at the crucial moment.

RALPH WHITE

Ralph White, 90, oldest resident of Greentree Borough, member of Company E, Ninth Pennsylvania Reserves, in the Civil War, died Sunday at his home. He was born on the South Side, then Birmingham, January 3, 1838. While on a furlough Mr. White, after he had been wounded at the Battle of Drainsville, married Margaret Fritch. After the war Mr. White settled in Greentree and for many years operated a blacksmith shop. He served as school director for 24 years, as borough councilman and burgess. He was a member of Mt. Pisgah Church, Union Veteran Legion and Capt. Thomas Espy Post, G. A. R., of Carnegie. Of 10 children, seven survive: Mrs. Mollie Hoover, Mrs. Harry Patterson, Mrs. W. F. Lampe, Mrs. Alex Cargo, Mrs. Albert Turney, Thomas and Robert White.

other operators, unable to compete, broke with the union and cut wages themselves, with the result, as he said, that coal diggers cannot maintain their families according to the American standard of living.

Operators Jolted

Senator Burton K. Wheeler produced confusion in the ranks of the southern West Virginia operators in attendance at the hearing by reading a speech delivered by their present attorney, A. M. Belcher, years ago, at a convention of the United Mine Workers, in which he made practically the same statements concerning the condition of the miners in that field as were made by Capt. Tetlow.

The operators had been subpenaed to bring with them their books showing production costs. They protested today against being required to make these costs public, and asked the privilege of presenting a legal argument to the effect that the committee had no right to require it, because the matter did not properly come within the purview of interstate commerce. The committee in executive session decided to permit the argument to be delivered.

Senator Guy D. Goff, of West Virginia, a member of the committee, was present for the first time since the inquiry started. He has been in the South for his health.

Henry Ford may be called to testify at the Senate's coal investigation, committee members indicated today.

Information has been presented to the committee that Ford, who operates mines in West Virginia and Kentucky, pays his men $8 a day, while nearby open-shop companies pay a top of $5 daily.

Ford Beats Scale?

The reported Ford scale is above the Jacksonville wage for which the union is striking to maintain.

Tetlow said that of 143,000,000 tons of coal produced in West Virginia last year, from 10,000,000 to 100,000,000 tons came from the southern part of the state. Of 117,000 men employed in the mining industry in the state, about 85,000 are to be found in the southern fields. From southern West Virginia comes the celebrated Pocahontas coal, which Tetlow said was unexcelled for certain purposes.

Tetlow said the United Mine Workers made their first wage agreement for Southern West Virginia at Huntington in 1902. The organization reached its peak in that territory in 1921, when it had 55,000 members there. Then the union began to decline there, and by 1924 the making of wage agreements between the union and the operators ceased.

Tetlow described Southern West Virginia as a region which was largely owned by coal companies. It is an inaccessible region, he said, and the only outlets are the railroads.

"There is very little local self-government," he said. "The towns are isolated, very few are incorporated. In Logan county only one town is incorporated. The police force consists of deputy sheriffs and mine guards paid by the coal companies.

Miners "Chained"

"All trading is in the company stores, and when I made a comparison in 1924 between prices in the company stores and prices for the same articles in Charleston stores, I found that the company stores prices were from 20 to 35 per cent higher.

"The miners are not allowed to buy in any other but the company stores. If they are found doing so, they are discharged. Outside stores are not permitted to deliver merchandise in the mining towns.

"In the mining towns of Southern West Virginia the workers are refused two fundamental rights—the right to participate in local self-government and the right to own their own homes."

Discussing overproduction of coal, Tetlow stated that Great Britain's average production per worker was 1,800 pounds a day, and Germany's one ton a day, but in the United States it is five tons a day, and in 10 years, he predicted, it will be doubled.

Meantime, he said, consumption of coal has remained stationary for some years, and the tendency now is towards a reduction in the per capita consumption of coal.

"Where will this lead?" Tetlow was asked.

"It means," said he, "that the financially weak operators and

"She's a Septic!"

Many women want to be, deserve to be, and could be far more popular than is their lot. Doctors know why. So do nurses. They call such cases septics.

To remedy obnoxious body odors and bad breath, you must recognize their cause. The trouble is deep-seated. Frankly in the colon. Semi-constipation makes millions of systems septic. There may be a daily movement, but all the waste is not eliminated. The matter that remains poisons the blood, and permeates the perspiration. It taints the breath. Nature is signaling her need of a little calcium.

Calcium works wonders in one's appearance, too. With the inner system sweet and clean, the complexion clears most marvelously. Eyes brighten. Teeth whiten. The tongue is no longer coated, even on arising. And you never need take another harsh cathartic.

Perhaps you are septic, and don't know it. Try a tiny bit of calcium, and see! It may make all the difference in the world. Leave harsh, habit-forming cathartics alone. You never need them if you take an occasional calcium tablet.

A five-day test will prove to you very conclusively the system's need for calcium, and the benefit from these little wafers. Your druggist has them for 10c. Or the family size, 60c. Start this test today!

FACTS about used car allowances

MOST new car sales now involve the trading-in of a buyer's used car. More and more people are asking: "Why should my used car seem to have several values? .... Why should dealers in different makes of cars offer me allowances differing materially? .... Does the largest allowance offered mean the best deal for me?"

Here are basic facts:

1 Your used car has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.

2 Your used car has only one fundamental basis of value: what the dealer who accepts it in trade can get for it in the used car market.

3 The largest trade-in allowance which is offered on your used car is not necessarily the best deal for you. Sometimes it is; sometimes it is not.

4 An excessive allowance may mean that you are paying an excessive price for the new car in comparison with its real value.

5 Judge the merits of the new car in comparison with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then weigh any difference in the allowance offered on your used car.

WHEN you trade-in your present car, remember that first of all you are making a purchase and not a sale. You are buying a new car and simply applying your present car as a credit toward the purchase price of the new car.

MRS. MABEL MONTEABARO

Mrs. Mabel Monteabaro, Berlin, Ala., shot at and missed Police Chief Blake, Calera, Ala., after a jury had freed him of murder charges growing out of the death of her daughter, Louise. The woman is held in jail with her sister, Miss Cecil Tubbs, who succeeded in stabbing Blake in the back in the plot to avenge the girl's death.

FEUDAL RULE IS BARED

those with high-cost mines will inevitably be driven out of business and their mines taken over by the big, strong operators—which, to me, seems an unsound and an unfair process."

In answer to questions as to what the remedy was, Tetlow said he thought regulatory legislation was required.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, read a speech depicting conditions among the miners of Southern West Virginia in dismal colors.

"The speech," said Wheeler, "was made at a convention of the United Mine Workers some years ago by Mr. A. M. Blecher, whom I see seated at the table today as counsel for the Southern West Virginia operators. Are conditions the same now as they were when that speech was made?"

"They are," said Tetlow.

Tetlow reviewed the history of the coal industry for the last 10 years and told of the increasing competition among the operators and of the rise of the movement to reduce wages.

"Burden on Miners"

"Every attempt to reduce the cost of producing coal has fallen," said Tetlow, "on the shoulders of the man that has dug the coal. The operators have not found it so easy to reduce other cost items, such as taxes, as to cut wages."

Tetlow said the campaign against wages and against the union started in Logan county, West Virginia. That county, he said, produces 15,000,000 tons of coal a year and has never been unionized.

"It is dangerous," he said, "for a union organizer to enter that county."

The Island Creek Coal Company, of which W. H. Coolidge, of Boston, is chairman, is the largest operator in Logan county, Tetlow stated.

To compete with the Logan county operators, the witness explained, the other Southern West Virginia operators broke with the union, and between 1922 and 1925 the operators evicted 50,000 people.

"Where are they now?" asked Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana.

"God knows," said Tetlow.

Make Yourself an Easter Coat!

Modern styles are so simple, and modern patterns so well cut, that if you sew at all, there's no reason why you should not make your own spring coat. And the fashionable fabrics are easy to work with.

54-inch Brameena—resembling kasha, $5.95 yard.
54-inch Swanskin—with a soft pile, $6.75 yard.
54-inch Kashmirlinda—with a smooth surface, $8.75 yard.

Since these are all 54 inches wide, 2¼ yards is enough for the average-sized coat. That would come to $13.50 if you chose the $5.95 material, so that with lining, pattern, buttons, and thread your coat would probably amount to little more than $20.00. And even if you used the Kashmirlinda, it would be less than $30.00. A remarkably reasonable price for a smart spring coat, don't you think? Make it yourself!

34 ARRESTED IN 23 DRY RAIDS IN "HILL" DISTRICT

AGENTS STAGE ONE SWOOP, RETURN

Descending upon the Hill district twice within six hours yesterday, federal prohibition agents raided 23 alleged speakeasies and confiscated much moonshine liquor and arrested 34 persons. The raids were made by 25 agents who first visited the district shortly after noon and then returned at 6 o'clock. During the first series of raids 13 places were visited and 19 persons arrested and on the second visit 10 places were raided and 15 persons arrested.

The raids were made on complaint of the Rev. A. V. Hightower, Negro minister who appealed to Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington. The Rev. Hightower complained to Pennington that the police refused to clean up the district and that they had threatened him with arrest unless he stopped his complaining. As a result of the Rev. Hightower's complaints, a special squad of investigators from Washington were put to work in the Hill district.

FIND MUCH LIQUOR

The raids were arranged on authority of Federal warrants and the prisoners have been placed under bail for hearings before the United States Commissioner. The agents who made the raids were armed with a state warrant issued by a justice of the peace. The raiders reported that intoxicating liquor was found in each place visited and that a wildcat brewery and slot machines had been found.

The brewery was found in a raid on a saloon at 55 Herron avenue. Nineteen hundred and fifty-three bottles of beer and quantities of gin and whisky were found. The slot machines were found in a raid on a store at 2154 Center avenue.

FLAMES DESTROY GARAGE AND AUTO

Fire in a one-story frame garage and stable, behind the M. C. Loew bakery, 3001 Arlington avenue, threatened to spread to the bake shop and other nearby buildings this morning when high winds drove the flames in all directions. Firemen confined the blaze to the garage, which was destroyed, along with an automobile parked inside. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

FARRELL THIEF TAKES BASEBALL UNIFORM

FARRELL, Pa., March 27.—Farrell has a would-be baseball player. He stole a complete uniform last night from the store of Joseph Rosita.

MISS GRIMES HAS COAL REMEDY

Collective bargaining with "the consumer as the third factor in the conference instead of the Senate committee," is suggested as a remedy for the coal situation by Representative Helen Grimes in a letter to Senator Burton K. Wheeler, chairman of the investigating body.

"The tendency of Congress to interfere in local affairs is ruinous to business," Miss Grimes wrote. "The willingness to be regulated from a distance in time destroys local initiative. This is our problem and I would respectfully suggest that Congress let us work out our salvation in our own way."

Miss Grimes suggested that the first conference of operators, miners and consumers be called by Gov. Fisher, to whom she sent a similar letter. The consumers should include the Mayor of Pittsburgh, representing the city; one of the County Commissioners, representatives of mills, railroads, large department stores, office buildings, churches, the University of Pittsburgh, Carnegie Institute of Technology, and the Chamber of Commerce. The Congress of Women's Clubs could represent thousands of housekeepers.

The investigation to date has shown that Federal control is not the solution, wrote Miss Grimes, adding:

"Federal control through the Interstate Commerce Commission, by making trouble for the operators, and making labor leaders making trouble for local unions, have about wrecked a basic industry. The remedy is to be found at home."

Miss Grimes said her plan is based upon 10 years experience as director of the Pittsburgh District Dairy Council, where such conferences stabilized the production and marketing of milk.

ARITHMETIC LESSON COSTS VICTIM $600

"We'll show you how to multiply your money fast," two fellow-roomers told Stephen Startres, 27, at a rooming house at 752 Reedsdale street. Instead they showed him $600 worth of subtraction, and then disappeared, Startres told the police.

RADICALS CALL STRIKE OF ALL MINERS

Declaring living conditions in the coal mining regions are no longer bearable, the Save-the-Union committee, a radical element in the union ranks, has called a strike of all unorganized miners in Western Pennsylvania for April 16.

The call, issued today to 100,000 non-union miners, recounts numerous charges against operators and notice is given that the latest strike call will be subject to the approval of a conference of the rank and file miners to be held in Pittsburgh next Sunday, when delegates are expected from the unorganized miners of Alabama, Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia and elsewhere, who will meet with representatives of the Ohio and Pennsylvania groups.

DRY AGENTS NAB 2 IN BALDWIN RAID

Prohibition agents paid professional calls in Willock, Baldwin township, late yesterday. They raided two houses, reported seizing moonshine in each place, and arrested as proprietors Jake Godce and Matt Bashell, both 34.

Prominent Furniture Store Rumored in Deal

In retail store circles a rumor was circulated late yesterday that a well-known furniture store is involved in a deal which will cause a great surprise when it is formally announced.

All efforts to ascertain details of the impending announcement were in vain. Although no confirmation of the plan could be obtained, it is stated on good authority, that the Hamburger Furniture Company, of 927 Penn Avenue, is the store involved. Mr. A. Hamburger, president of the company, could not be located yesterday, either at the store or at his residence. At the offices of the company, when inquiry was made, officials declined to answer when asked about the rumor.

WHISKY PERMIT RESTORED TO DRUGGIST

The government liquor permit of Peter G. Walter, druggist, Chestnut and Lockhart streets, to dispense whisky for medicinal purposes, revoked by the prohibition authorities, was ordered restored in an opinion handed down yesterday in the Federal District Court by Judge W. H. S. Thomson, with Judge R. M. Gibson concurring.

By its action the court vacated its ruling in December, 1927, when it confirmed the revocation of the 1927 permit by Administrator John D. Pennington, after a hearing before the latter, at which Walter was charged with violating the prohibition regulations by selling more than one pint of whisky to the same person within 10 days on several occasions.

After the first court opinion the case was reargued and the court by its recent ruling upheld the contention of counsel for the druggist that it was not within the jurisdiction of the prohibition authorities to revoke the 1927 permit when they had presumptive knowledge of the violations prior to the issuance of the permit for 1927.

The opinion cites a section of the prohibition act setting forth that a prohibition administrator having reason to believe that a permittee is not in good faith conforming with the provisions of the act, shall immediately issue an order citing such person for a hearing. In the case of Walter this was not done, according to the opinion, until after he had obtained his 1927 permit.

LOCAL RESIDENTS RECOVER HEALTH

Lady and Her Aged Mother Attribute Recovery to Famous Ten Herbs.

"Ten Herbs gave me such good results that I induced mother, who is 71 years old, to use it, as she had about the same health troubles as I," was the statement of Mrs. Elizabeth Gott, 23 Roberts Street, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine. "I can honestly say that mother and I received the same satisfactory results that everybody who takes Ten Herbs tells about," continued Mrs. Gott, who has lived all her life in the same ward in Pittsburgh, and is well known.

"My appetite was poor and I had a constant pain in my stomach. A heavy lump would form in my stomach, which made me imagine all sorts of things. I got very nervous, and worried over my condition. I was constipated, and my liver was very inactive. I had no ambition or energy. While sewing, I would fall asleep. My kidneys seemed to be weak, as I had to arise five or six times a night, and had severe pains across the back. My sleep was so badly broken that I would arise in the morning feeling more tired than when I went to bed, and my complexion became sallow.

"I was so much impressed with what Pittsburgh people said about Ten Herbs that I decided to try your medicine. As a result, my appetite is good, and the lump and pain have left my stomach. My liver and kidneys are active, and my bowels are regular. I do not have to arise a single time at night, and the pains are gone from my back. That drowsy, worn-out feeling has left me, and I have more strength and ambition. I sleep well at night, and my nerves are quiet. I enjoy good health now, and it shows in my general appearance. Mother and I are glad of an opportunity to speak a good word for a medicine that has such splendid qualities as Ten Herbs."

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

Ensemble Suits

The Best Suit Value We Have Been Able to Offer This Season . . . New, Fashionable 3-Piece Ensemble Suits (full length coat, matching coat and satin crepe blouse) . . . . . .

$29.75

Drastically Below Their Real Worth

Only once in a long time does a value come so extraordinary that printed words cannot do it justice. This is one of those times. These are beautifully hand-tailored Ensemble Suits . . . right in the height of Spring Fashions. They are the same in quality and style you will see in the smartest shops . . . and this sale brings them to you at a price drastically below their real value.

The Coats Alone Are Worth the Price of the Entire Suit

These suits are hand tailored by a leading New York maker. The coats are silk crepe lined. The skirts match the coats, and the blouses are of harmonizing silk crepe. The coat may be worn as a separate garment.

Spring's popular materials: Kashmirs, Oxfords, Twill cords and Coverts in the lovely new shades of tan and grey; also navy, black and mixtures. Trimming details are determined by the sports or dress style of the suit.

In every way, this is one of the outstanding value offerings of the season, and will mean a great deal to women who buy their apparel here, and know what our fashion and value-giving policies are.

On Sale, Second Floor, at $29.75. Sizes 14 to 38

"Hit the Deck" Has Melodies And Scenic Color in a Story About a Girl Who Loves a Gob

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

GEORGE SEIBEL

"HIT THE DECK," a nautical comedy-romance, based on the play of "Shore Leave," which was the work of Hubert Osborne, sailed into the harbor of the Nixon Theater last night to an accompaniment of catchy music provided by Vincent Youmans. It is not an American "Pinafore," but it is distinctly above the average of musical plays, and is very well presented by a company in which Queenie Smith has the role of Loulou, originally sung by Louise Groody, while Charles Purcell is "Bilge," taken by Charles King in the New York production.

The play doesn't belong to any one singer, or actor, or dancer. In fact, it belongs mostly to the melodies that run through it, and to the romantic atmosphere emanating from the scene on deck and the Chinese town scene. Queenie Smith has a demure comedy vein and a voice with heart in it. Charles Purcell is the bluff gob with whom the heroine falls in love, and since it can't be his table manners it must be his voice that attracts her. Both these people are equal to all the demands made upon them—and they have two rivals for the favor of the audience in Juanita Chefalo, who sings "Hallelujah" in a fashion to scare off Satan, and Eddie Russell, Jr., whose eccentric dancing has more than a dash of ginger. There are also the four missionaries, presented by the Gibson Sisters, whose quartet is ingratiatingly sung. But all these elements are fused in the evening's entertainment, so that it would be impossible to assign individual credit or separate value to this or that. "Hit the Deck" is more of a piece, less patchwork, than the majority of such productions.

Not that there is much to the plot, which simply tells how Loulou fell in love with a gob named Smith, and followed him from her coffee house all the way to China. When he would not marry her because she was rich, she returned to her coffee house and waited till he came back, having disposed of her property in an ingenious fashion that would hardly be expected of her ingenuous nature.

That is really all there is to the story, and it is spread very thinly over the two acts. But the lyrics and the atmosphere hold it together and get it across. Amid scarlet and yellow robes, the marines look as picturesque as posters, and the songs croon or shout themselves into the listeners' ears. It is color and melody that make the entertainment like a pleasant breeze on a summery sea.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN AND NOVELTY FILM IN GRAND

Charlie Chaplin and his picture, "The Circus," is back in town again. It heads the bill in the Grand. The photoplay is a side-splitting comedy of the slapstick variety. And Charlie is seen at his best. You'll smile when Chaplin first crashes into the circus limelight; chuckle when, by accident, he finds himself in the lion's cage; and laugh out loud when he essays the role of a tight-rope performer. There is a film, "Frenzy," on the bill. It proves a dramatic novelty of France of World War days. Mary Carr and H. B. Warner are in the cast.

"THE LEOPARD LADY" PICTURE IN OLYMPIC

"The Leopard Lady," featuring Jacqueline Logan and Alan Hale, is the photoplay feature in the Olympic. The film depicts circus life in Austria and the dramatic interest centers upon the solution of several murder mysteries and a love romance. The Vitaphone bill offers a two-reel playlet, "Solomon's Children," featuring Hugh Herbert, and a song act presenting Fanny Rice, character comedienne. News pictures are shown.

WILL ROGERS TO TALK IN MUSIC HALL TONIGHT

Will Rogers will give a characteristic Rogers humorous talk in Carnegie Music Hall tonight. Two hours of homely philosophy, wit and humor are promised, in which he will touch on topics and personalities of the day. He announces for his subject, "Will Rogers—Who Is Liable to Talk About Anything or Anybody." James Francis Burke will introduce Mr. Rogers.

QUEENIE SMITH
Miss Smith is the sprightly comedienne of "Hit the Deck," musical comedy attraction in the Nixon.

'MY MARYLAND' IN ALVIN

"My Maryland," operatta of Civil War days, which played to a record business during four weeks earlier in the season in the Alvin, came back to that theater last night and again was greeted by a large audience which thrilled to the Sigmund Romberg music set to story and lyrics by Dorothy Donnelly. It is the same company that appeared here previously, a company that shows the effect of careful selection of players for the principal roles, including Lottice Howell, as Barbara Frietchie, George Rymer, as Capt. Trumbull, Union Army officer, Betty Byron, as the mischievious elf, Sue Royce, and Alexander Clark, as Zeke, who is first on one side and then on the other, as far as loyalty to cause is concerned.

This quartet, as on the previous visit, made instant friends among the audience, which was liberal in its show of appreciation. The musical numbers again were received with deserved manifestations of approval, the choral work being given equal recognition with the solos, trios and quartets. The "hit," "Your Land And My Land," by Capt. Trumbull and the mighty-voiced chorus, called for numerous encores.

Besides the principals those prominent in the cast and doing their work well are Peter Lang, Ralph Dunn, Leslie Bingham, William Pringle, Sally Stembler, Herbert Lyle.

BANCROFT AND BRENT LEAD IN STANLEY FILM

It is a variation of the "White Cargo" theme that forms the central thread of "The Showdown," presented this week as the screen feature in the Stanley, with George Bancroft in the stellar role. Instead of the tropics "getting" a man, as in "White Cargo," it is a woman who finds herself slipping. This despite the fact that she is warned of the insidious influence and puts herself on the defensive. In "The Showdown" Bancroft has another hard-boiled role, that of a two-fisted oil driller wildcatting in Mexico, and the woman he warns that she should not be there is played by Evelyn Brent. Although interesting, it seems rather a let-down for these two after "Underworld." That is the penalty for reaching heights—one is expected to remain there always. There is a good fistic encounter, but such things are not unknown in the movies. A poker game of one hand each as the deciding factor of the tale gives the picture its title and Bancroft the opportunity to show he is big-hearted as well as big-fisted. Neil Hamilton, Fred Hohler, Arnold Kent and Leslie Fenton are in the cast. On the stage the Florentine Singers, several soloists and a chorus of 20, give selections from operas that are a musical treat. Three clever dancers, Locke Harak and Locke, aided by the Ten Serova soldierettes, dancing girls, win approval. Other films and orchestral music complete the bill.

ACADEMY BURLESQUE IS "PRETTY BABIES"

In "Pretty Babies," this week's burlesque in the Academy, Peggy Mayo is conspicuous among the entertainers and is featured in a vocal specialty. The show opens with a travesty in which Maurice Cash plays the comedy role of a junk dealer. Benny Platt also is a featured comic. Cash and Jack Baker sing parodies. Francine La Rocque and Bobbie LaVerne are specialty singers. Anna Evans is seen in Parisian dances. A dancing specialty is introduced by Blossom La Velle and girls. Ruth Donnell appears in a vocal and dancing number.

CAMERAPHONE OFFERS NEW DUPONT PICTURE

"Love Me and the World Is Mine," a new picture made by Director E. A. Dupont, the man responsible for Emil Jannings' "Variety," is being shown in the Cameraphone. Action of the film unfolds in pre-war Vienna and the story concerns a pathetic little Austrian girl, portrayed by Mary Philbin. The hero is played by Norman Kerry. George Seigmann and Henry B. Walthall are in the cast. Short film entertainment completes the bill.

E. LIBERTY TRADE BOARD ELECTING GOVERNORS

The new board of governors of the East Liberty Trade Association, comprising 16 members, are being elected today. There are 32 candidates and the election is being held by mail.

TRIXIE'S TRICKS IN DAVIS

The generous years have added avoirdupois to Trixie Friganza's frame, but they have taken away none of her happy humor. While she is on the stage at the Davis Theater this week, smiles do not fade from the faces in the audience and frequently they expand into grins or burst into guffaws. Her voice still has its old thrill, and her jests are full of the old juice. She is the Trixie she always was—gay though gray, fat but not flat. She is the best thing in the Davis vaudeville program. Another amusing bit is "Nights of Love," in which four very good singers in the guise of cats warble "Rigoletto" on a roof. Ray and Dot Dean have a diverting boob act. Pat Henning's "Versatility" consists in juggling hats and Indian clubs, while Arthur Petley with his company performs amazing feats of leaping and flying. Then there is a dog act presented by the Burys, in which the canine comedians do a dead march with dignified solemnity and in perfect time. The photoplay is "Come to My House," the candied romance of a foolish maid, in which Olive Borden and Antonio Moreno are the principal figures.

RADIO SINGERS IN HARRIS

Miss Ann and Mr. Frank, radio entertainers from New Orleans, and Max Fields, comedian, carry off most of the honors on the Harris stage this week. The radio entertainers sing themselves into lots of applause and extra curtain calls. Fields, with buffoonery, facial contortions and humorous chatter, also gets a "big hand." He is assisted by Ann Fink. "The Corner Drug Store," a comedy skit, is responsible for 15 or so minutes of amusement. What it would be worth without Caroline Scoville's eccentric legs and goggle-eyes is something else again. The Holly Sisters play the violin and sing in an act of ordinary merit. M. Alphonse Berg appears on the stage with many and varying bolts of cloth, which he fashions into Parisian gown creations on living models. Then there's the woman who performs high in the air, while she sings about her being the original up-side-down girl. The screen attraction, "Red Riders of Canada," proves some more glorification of the Northwest Mounted Police, with one of the Red Coats winning the girl and getting his man in the final sequence. Patsy Ruth Miller is the girl. An organlogue, news pictures and a cartoon comedy are on the bill.

"RAMONA." IN THE PENN. HAS LOVE AND DRAMA

"Ramona," film version of Helen Hunt Jackson's novel of the same title, showing on the Penn screen, is an interesting depiction of California life in its Mission days, when the romantic Spanish note was dominant. Although it is a preachment—against the injustice to the Indians in a period the public no longer is familiar with—if it ever was—its beautiful love story still is inspiring and its dramatic features grip and hold the interest. The characterization of the title role by Dolores Del Rio is as touching an appeal to the sympathies as one ever sees on the screen. Warner Baxter, as the Indian sweetheart and husband of Ramona, makes the part realistically life-like and convincing. Roland Drew plays well the part of Felipe, the other man in love with Ramona. Vera Lewis gives a duenna role a steely malevolence. Michael Visaroff and John T. Prince are prominent in the cast. The stage features, presented under the general title of "Hula Blues," include specialties by Tui Poi and Royal Samoans; Drena Beach and Felicia Sorel Girls, dancers, Moore & Powell, novelty musicians; Anna Chang, singer, and Fritz and Jean Hubert, eccentric dancers, closing with "Under the Ukulele Tree." An orchestral overture and organlogue completes the program.

PHILBIN AND KERRY IN CAMEO PHOTOPLAY

Mary Philbin and Norman Kerry are featured in "Love Me and the World Is Mine," current Cameo attraction. The picture was directed by A. E. Dupont, the man who made "Variety." Miss Philbin has the sympathetic role of a little Austrian girl. Betty Compson is seen as a Viennese lady of somewhat dubious virtue. The cast includes Henry B. Walthall, George Seigmann and Charles Duffy. International News and a comedy are on the bill.

GAYETY, STEPS IN ALDINE

The rotund Nat C. Haines brings a gay episode to the Aldine stage this week. It is a comedy skit, in which Nat, as "a very-much-married" man, has a difficult time keeping in the good graces of Friend Wife, whom he calls "mama" and "dear" to her face, and "the iron horse" and "the storm" behind her back. A company of six helps. An interesting feature on the bill is the appearance of a young man, billed as Marvel. And Marvel is a marvel. Though deaf and dumb this performer, in several dance numbers, displays a keen sense of rhythm. A number of other dancers appear with him. Coutler and Rose, blackface comedians, present patter and some eccentric steps. Hazel Crosby, soprano, entertains with a group of pleasing songs. The Emilons, a woman and a man, display thrilling aerial feats. The photoplay is "The Warning," featuring Jack Holt and Dorothy Revier. There's quite a bit of action to the piece and Holt shows adeptness at both love-making and fist-fighting. Short screen entertainment is on the bill.

ARE YOU a "TOXIC"

A Complexion You "Can't Do a Thing With"

These pimples, yellow spots and that sallowness—they come from a deeper cause than you think. These skin blemishes are the symptom of a dangerous toxic or poisoned condition of the system which is due to a "half-dead" or sluggish liver. The liver becoming weak or congested under the strain of our abnormal living habits, fails to cleanse the blood of the poisons formed in food waste. Then toxemia with stubborn skin troubles. If complexion is bad it is a sign that the liver needs a little help. There is nothing better for this, as medical men know, than a little ox gall. Ox gall has been found to be a great, natural stimulant for the liver, which is a purifier of blood and skin. The genuine, pure ox gall is to be had, dainty and tasteless, in the form of Dioxol tablets. Each tablet represents 10 drops of pure ox gall and costs less than 2c at good druggists. To be sure of getting the genuine, look for the name Dioxol and picture of ox's head on the package.

COUNTY FIRE CHIEFS TO CONVENE FRIDAY

Fire chiefs and their assistants from five communities in the northern end of the county will meet Friday night to outline plans to perfect a unified fire fighting system for the district and to map out the section so that duplication in answering alarms will be eliminated. The meetings will be held at the John Kind farm, Perry Highway, and representatives from Ingomar, Wexford, Highland, Perrysville and West View will be present.

C. OF C. GETS NEW LAMP COMPANY FOR DISTRICT

The Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce has announced that as a result of the efforts of its industrial expansion committee, Robert Garland, chairman, the Pittsburgh district has secured a new industry, the Pittsburgh Lamp and Art Craft, Inc. The company started operations last week. C. A. Ross is president, F. W. Sneddin and W. G. Heinsohn, secretary and treasurer, respectively. The factory is at Monongahela.

Will Can't Find Non-Candidate in Capital

Blew through Washington yesterday. Everybody that I tried to talk to about the nomination was a candidate himself, so all their opinions were sorter biasted. Both Houses spent all last week arguing politics. Congress spent the week on Ohio politics. Suppose they will take up Indiana next and that will keep 'em all summer.

WILL ROGERS.

The Senate spent the week discussing Al Smith. Suppose they will take up Ritchie next week. Did you ever figure it out. They are the only people in the world that are paid to do one job, and do every other one there is but that.

If business men strayed that far from their actual business, we would have the prosperity of India.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

TWO SENATORS URGE RETURN OF BLACKMER

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Senator William E. Borah, one of the outstanding Republican leaders of the Senate, has added his support to the movement started by Hearst newspapers to indict H. M. Blackmer and J. E. O'Neil, the expatriated oil magnates.

Without discussing the legal problems involved in effecting the indictments, Senator Borah declared this method of bringing about their extradition should be resorted to by the Federal government if it were legally practicable.

"It would be a good thing to indict Blackmer and O'Neil, and I hope it can be done," Borah said. "It is a matter of the highest importance to the Senate that we bring these men back to the United States in order to testify about the Continental Trading Company. I hope that some action can be taken."

Senator Caraway, of Arkansas, also a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, also expressed himself as favoring the indictment of the two oil men.

WOMAN FOUND IN DAZE

Found wandering in the street near her home early today, Mrs. Grace Baughman, 28, of 6216 Station street, was removed to the Pittsburgh Hospital, where physicians are attempting to diagnose her case.

The woman was found by Patrolman Charles Hooker, who had her removed to the hospital in the police patrol from the Frankstown Avenue Station. She was identified by her husband, William J. Baughman. She appears to be suffering from a loss of memory, it was stated at the hospital.

DEAD WOMAN IS IDENTIFIED

The body of the woman who fell dead in a Windgap avenue residence while applying for work was identified last night as that of Mrs. Bertha Harbaugh, 28, of the Steubenville pike, near McKees Rocks. Mrs. Harbaugh was the mother of four small children. Her death occurred yesterday in the home of Robert R. Wittmer, of 3866 Windgap avenue. Death was attributed to heart disease.

DRIVING BLIND, KILLS BOY

A coroner's jury today found that George J. Paul, 28, of 219 Larkins way, when he fatally injured Paul A. Joyce, 16, in Library road, Overbrook, was driving his automobile without lights. Later his darkened car crashed into another machine. Joyce resided at 5 Second street, Overbrook.

Paul denied that he had struck the boy, or that his car had been operated without lights. He was held on a charge of manslaughter. The accident occurred March 16.

KNIFE HIS BATON, GIVEN 30 DAYS

George Jones, a Negro, 22, of 205 Elm street, posed as an orchestra leader in a Wylie avenue restaurant early today. But he substituted a large spring-blade knife for a baton and his sweeping movements seemed aimed at Patrolma Karl Keil. In Central Police Court Jones was sent to jail for 30 days.

LEVEE SMASHES, TOWNS CAUGHT

By CLEM WHITAKER,
International News Service

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 27.—Raging mountain streams, swirling over their banks with the peak load of yesterday's torrential rains, roared down into the Sacramento Valley today, isolating Oroville, inundating the town of Biggs and creating a widespread flood zone in that vicinity.

Still mounting as the crest of the flood approached, a surging overflow from the Feather River swept into Biggs, a community of 1,000 people, during the night and had reached a depth of one foot in the business district early this morning.

Surrounding lowlands, including hundreds of acres of fine orchards near Gridley, were flooded, the water reaching a depth of several feet in some sections.

At Yuba City and Marysville water broke through the levees in spots and crews of workmen fought to keep back the torrent. Scores of families were forced to quit their homes, it was reported.

The final flood crest was expected to tax levees of the Sacramento River at Knights Landing, where it was estimated the water would come within three feet of flood stage.

Bulwarked behind towering dikes and with the flood gates of its giant by-pass flung wide to divert the new wall of water, Sacramento was declared by N. R. Taylor, government observer, to be in no danger. The great diversion canal, though, is expected to carry more water than the river when the peak reaches here.

MAN HURT IN FIGHT SUCCUMBS IN HOSPITAL

A blow on the head suffered while he was said to have been in argument at Hazel and Townsend streets caused the death early today of Robert Brown, 35, a Negro, of 1509 Colwell street, in the Mercy Hospital. Felix Sims, of 1312 Bedford avenue, alleged assailant of Brown, was arrested at Washington place and Webster avenue. He was lodged in the Center Avenue Police Station, charged with being a suspicious person.

Safest Way to End Indigestion

There are many ways to stop indigestion. Few remedies used, however, do more than relieve the pain and these "half-way" treatments may lead to ulcers.

Two things should be done for indigestion—and at once. The harmful, gas-forming acid should be removed and the inflamed stomach lining protected.

Bi-nesia does both. It instantly neutralizes acid, stops fermentation, sweetens the stomach, prevents gas, and soothes, heals and protects the stomach lining. There's nothing better.

With Bi-nesia you can stop the worst attack of indigestion in five minutes. Relief is quick, safe, harmless. All druggists sell and recommend Bi-nesia tablets and powder—only 50 cents. Get a package today.

M'KEESPORT IN CROSSING WAR

McKeesport city officials, businessmen and civic bodies are collaborating in a determined effort to rid the Tube City of the grade crossing menace and the Crooked Run flood nuisance,

At a meeting held in K. of P. hall, McKeesport, Mayor George H. Lysle was named head of a committee to prepare plans for a tunnel through Tin Plate hill at Gas street, designed to carry the tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and a sewer that would divert the heavy drainage from the heights of East McKeesport, Versailles township and North Versailles township, which flows into Crooked Run and frequently floods the East End section of the city, depositing filth and debris on abutting home properties. Crooked Run long has been an eyesore on the Tube City landscape and a menace to public health.

MANY CROSSINGS

A score of dangerous grade crossings on the B. & O., bisecting the entire city from north to south, will be wiped out if the tunnel project goes through. The railroad is under enormous expense in stopping and starting heavy trains at street intersections and in paying damages for accidents at the unprotected crossings. The railroad long has sought a way to eliminate the crossings without expense to itself, and the city is ready to take drastic steps to compel the B. & O. to abate the traffic nuisance at 20 street intersections.

The Pittsburgh Railways Company and the B. & O. have been asked to name members from their organizations to serve on the Mayor's committee in an effort to reach a working agreement on the plan to reroute the utility lines through the city. The railways company has had frequent clashes with the Mayor and City Council over paving costs on its right of way and the city dads have stood firmly for the trolley concern paying its own bills. Acting with Mayor Lysle on the committee are Luke Savage, city engineer, who is preparing the tunnel plan; Mrs. William Walthour, S. J. Topley, clerk of courts; W. E. Hartman and Louis Schmertz.

Speakers at the meeting were L. E. Wickersham and Dr. John Comover, of the State Department of Health; L. F. Bechtol, of the county engineering department; W. M. Rae, of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad; C. A. Dodds, of the P. & L. E. Railroad; Mr Topley, Mr. Schmertz, Assemblyman John A. Rhodes, members of City Council, and Dr. W. L. Henderson.

REFINERY FIRE LOSS $3,000

A threatening blaze last midnight broke out in a high pressure still of the Atlantic Refining Company, Fifty-fifth street and the Allegheny Valley railroad, causing damage estimated at $3,000. Firemen experienced difficulty in preventing the fire from spreading to other sections of the refinery. Police of the Forty-third street station formed fire lines and kept pedestrians at a safe distance when a throng gathered. Origin of the blaze is undetermined.

3 WIVES ASK MARITAL KNOTS BE SEVERED

Libels in divorce have been filed in Common Pleas Court as follows: Clara Seddon Kraenter, 618 Lillian street, against Emil George Kraenter, indignities; Kate Gudenburr, 154 East Third street, Homestead, against J. A. Gudenburr, desertion; Adolph Ellenbogen, 6819 Meade street, against Natalia Ellenbogen, desertion.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

No Large Parties Planned for Present Visit in Sewickley of Junior James William Bennings

CONTRARY to the expectations of most of us, I understand that there are to be no large parties for the junior James William Bennings, who are visiting Mrs. Benning's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. George Phelps Rose, of Thorn street, Sewickley. You remember, of course, that young Mrs. Benning was Mrs. Sara Rose Frick, of Sewickley, before she was married, a little over two weeks ago, in Augusta, Ga. The Bennings are on their way west to their ranch in Penticton, British Columbia, and will be in the Valley just a few days. They arrived here last Thursday and, I believe, will leave again at the end of the week.

Just a few family dinners have been planned for the new Mrs. Benning and her husband, with, perhaps, a very small party or two given by close friends. Mrs. Benning always has been very popular in Sewickley, and when she comes back later for a more lengthy visit her friends will, no doubt, give a number of quite large affairs for her.

White Sulphur Springs has attracted several more of our local people with its "between-seasons" attractions. I hear that the Lawrence W. Knapps, of Bartlett street, are at the Greenbrier for a while. With them are their daughter, Kathryn, and their son, Lawrence W. Knapp, Jr.

Yesterday's weather lent itself beautifully to the idea that the greens at the various golf clubs soon will be dotted with gay-colored sports costumes worn by feminine members eager to "rush the season." However, today, ——! But there are other events at the clubs, and among them are the bridge luncheons for women members that continue throughout the year. The next one at the Pittsburgh Country Club is scheduled for April 3, and the hostesses are to be Mrs. William L. Monro, Mrs. Donald McNeil, Mrs. Frank S. Slocum, Mrs. R. W. Kiser and Mrs. Clark Hammond. Mrs. Hammond is chairman. The customary Sunday night buffet suppers are being held, as well as the dinner dances on Thursday and Saturday nights.

Mrs. W. K. Gamble, of Oakmont, is home again after spending two months in Switzerland. Her daughter, Rhoda, also has returned home. She is a pupil at Miss Spence's School in New York, and is enjoying her spring vacation.

Also home from school for the Easter holiday are Georgianna and Katherine Collin, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Collin, of Woodland road, Sewickley. The Collin girls attend the Westover School at Middlebury, Conn.

And another girl who will arrive home tomorrow from school is Virginia Kuhn, daughter of the William Rittenhouse Kuhns, of Roslyn place. She is a pupil at Mrs. Dows' School at Briarcliff.

The engagement of Miss Elsie Ament, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Ament, of Homestead Park, to Walter S. Rearick, of Tarentum, son of the Rev. J. M. Rearick, of Mifflintown, was announced at a bridge luncheon given Saturday in the crystal room of the William Penn Hotel by her sister, Miss Margaret Morris.

Mrs. O. G. Butts, Mrs. Guy B. West and Mrs. E. E. Greve will be hostesses at the March bridge luncheon at the Shannopin Country Club tomorrow. A luncheon musicale is being planned for April 25 by the women's social committee, of which Mrs. J. L. Rodrigues is chairman.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Grafner, of South Linden avenue, sailed today on the Deutschland for an extensive trip abroad.

Miss Mary Ayres Wilkinson, of Kansas City, who visited Mrs. Daniel Winters Haydock, of Bellefield avenue, for some time, left last week for the eastern shore of Maryland. She will return late in April for a short stay with Mrs. Haydock before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Regan, of Lang avenue, Homewood, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Sarah J. Regan, to Allison Chapin Shaw, of Detroit.

The Belmec Dramatic Club will present the play, "Her Gloves," Thursday and Friday nights in the Brookline Methodist Episcopal Church for the benefit of the Epworth League. Mrs. Waldo Emerson Brooks is directing the cast, which includes V. Bruce Moler, Clarence Faust, Margaret Wood, Howard Clary, Gertrude Larkins, Gail Yoders, George Taylor, Walter Livingood, Sara Falk and Grace Wood.

The engagement of Miss Helen Mae Montooth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Montooth, of Rebecca avenue, Wilkinsburg, to Harold Neil Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Thompson, of Mifflin avenue, Wilkinsburg, was announced at a bridge luncheon given Saturday by Mrs. Montooth in her home. The wedding will take place April 21.

The Pittsburgh Alumnae Chapter of the Zeta Tau Alpha fraternity will entertain the fraternity members at a bridge tea Saturday, April 21, in the fraternity house in Craig street. The hostesses will be chapter members from Ohio State, University of Pennsylvania, University of Tennessee, Ohio Wesleyan, University of Michigan, Randolph Macon and Ohio University. Miss Louise B. Wright is president of the chapter.

EAST LIBERTY WOMEN TO CANVASS VOTERS

Acting on the suggestion from the American citizenship department of the State Federation, the East Liberty Woman's Club will make a survey in an effort to ascertain the percentage of voting women in the community before the primaries, April 24. Under Mrs. J. D. Bills an inclusive plan has been worked out whereby every member will canvass the four sides of the block in which she lives. Department and division heads and their lieutenants, together with officers and board members of the club, held a luncheon and press conference yesterday in the home of Mrs. Philip Reese, North Beatty street. The club editors of the Pittsburgh newspapers were present to answer questions and make suggestions and Mrs. Madeline Young Love, president of the Women's Press Club, was guest of honor. The luncheon, which was prettily appointed with a centerpiece of pink roses and marguerites and white candles in green crystal, was in charge of Mrs. C. A. Shallenberger, Mrs. Frank Zeigler, Mrs. R. M. Walker, Mrs. V. K. Leslie and Mrs. H. E. Smead. The club is arranging for an Americanization day in Kingsley House on May 24, when the foreign-born women of the district will have a display of their handiwork and give the program, the club members reciprocating as hostesses.

"The great difficulty in this country is the failure to appreciate the fact that government is great business and needs efficiency, ability and experience. A business concern would go to the wall were it to change executive heads every four years." This Dr. William Starr Meyers, of Princeton, said yesterday to the Twentieth Century Club, following his contention that President Coolidge is now serving his first term, since, as Vice President he was only acting President. The speaker discussed presidential possibilities, saying Hoover and Smith are undoubtedly the choice of the rank and file of the two parties, but the politicians are not in favor of them. Dawes and Senator Walsh, of Montana, are probable "dark horses," he said. Dr. Meyers went over the Nicaraguan situation, showing clearly the right of and necessity for the United States keeping its marines in that country of so little energy and enterprise. Two classes of people, he said, are responsible for the misunderstanding of our relations with Nicaragua, those who are opposed to the present administration and "those congenital pacifists who, with their unbalance and impracticality, are doing more to cause war than anyone else." Affairs in Nicaragua can't be judged as in the United States, he told his hearers, for there liberty means that 2 per cent steal from the other 98 per cent and spend what they get in Rome, Paris or Madrid.

Discussing Congress, Dr. Meyers said Congress fails to appreciate the present tendencies towards executive government. Back of the oil scandal stands the fact that the United States does not pay its public officials living salaries. "Inefficiency and corruption are the natural children of public parsimony," he remarked. He deplored the attack on Secretary Mellon as "a most disgraceful thing."

"The Most Important Problem in Present Day Education" is the subject offered by the discussion group of the College Club for Friday afternoon's meeting. The leaders are to be Mrs. Homer N. Young, Mrs. Earl Blough and Dr. Mary Bidwell Breed. Tea hostesses include Mrs. Paul V. Faragher as chairman, Miss Sarah E. Bissell and Mrs. W. P. Price, who will pour, and Mrs. James Calvin Reed, Mrs. J. B. Brown and Mrs. Samuel Dicken Ewart.

Mrs. Maurice D. Cooper and Mrs. M. H. Von Bernewitz entertained the Woman's Auxiliary to the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers with a bridge party and tea in Mrs. Cooper's home, Aylesboro avenue, this afternoon. Mrs. James E. Paul and Mrs. Louis Young had charge of the tea hour and entertainment. The next meeting of the auxiliary will take the form of a musicale and will be given April 24 in the home of Mrs. T. M. Girdler, Ellsworth avenue. Mrs. Frederick Crabtree was hostess yesterday at a meeting of the board at which amendments to the by-laws and the formation of Girl Scout troops in mining camps (the latter suggested by the national president, Mrs. Herbert Hoover) were discussed.

ALL DENOMINATIONS HONOR GOLDENSON

Leading ministers in the principal Christian denominations of Pittsburgh in the pulpit of a Jewish synagogue last night felicitated the congregation of Rodef Shalom Temple upon the observance of the tenth anniversary of the ministrations of Rabbi Samuel H. Goldenson. Such an occasion betokening good will and tolerance between different religious creeds has rarely been seen in this district.

The celebration of 10 years of Dr. Goldenson's service fell also on the fiftieth anniversary of his birth and a double celebration was held in consefuence, bringing together in joyous assemblage all the groups representing the varied activities of his vast congregation. The corridors, administration offices and school rooms were transformed into a bower of springtime beauty, where Dr. Goldenson and officers of the congregation held a reception preliminary to the service of greetings.

TEMPLE CROWDED

The great auditorium of the temple was crowded, and distinguished among all those on the platform was Judge Josiah Cohen, venerable president of the congregation, who had officiated at the laying of the corner-stone of the first temple more than 60 years ago. Suffering from hoarseness, he was unable to deliver his address, and it was read while he sat beside the rabbi and was the first to offer his congratulations.

EXTOL TEMPLE LEADER

A. Leo Weil, chairman of the reception committee, presided. Following the president's address, greetings were given by Mrs. Frederic Johnson, president of the

TAXI DRIVER ROBBED BY LONE NEGRO THUG

An armed Negro robbed Isador Bursky of 1226 Colwell street, a Yellow taxicab driver, of $5 early today in Vine street. The robber hailed the cab in Smithfield street and asked to be driven to Vine street and upon reaching his destination, drew a revolver. Bursky reported the holdup to police at the Center Avenue Police Station.

Hunger That Makes for Attachment; Incidents That Develop Life-Long Repugnance

Why the strongest impulses are for food and mate was explained in The Sun-Telegraph yesterday by Dr. Dorsey; also the natural responses to the stimuli. For example, no shock short of electrocution will stop a rat in quest of something to eat. Varying conditions that promote the preservation of species.

Are Marriages Made in Heaven?

CHAPTER XLII.

WHEN a woman says, "I hate that man!" what does she hate him with? Does hate spring from rage impulse which drives us to anger when restrained, or is it the opposite, the detumescence of love? Suppose she says: "I hate lavender"—women do say such things. I heard one say: "I hate Paris." Most women "love" Paris, some "simply adore" it.

GEORGE A. DORSEY

I love corned beef and cabbage. Sight or odor of corned beef and cabbage makes my mouth water. My mouth waters only when I am stimulated by something within my food-hunger repertoire. My mouth-water mechanism is made up of glands, muscles, nerves. An adequate stimulus sets it off. Call that activity tumescence (swelling). And note that I may leave the restaurant with a full stomach, and yet the odor of broiled mushrooms as I pass out the door sets my mouth watering again.

I sit down and order broiled mushrooms. The first one I spear has a hair on it. I try again; and encounter a dead fly. These are not pleasant things, but such make or break appetites. I have lost mine for broiled mushrooms, possibly forever. The very thought of mushrooms makes me sick; no mouth-water, no "good feeling" in the food-appetite mechanism. Call that detumescence.

Heaven-Made Marriages

The sex-appetite mechanism is much more complicated; has more parts, more nerves, is capable of more devastating sensations. Call it the erogenous (love-producing) zone. This zone is all in order at birth. By conditioning processes it learns to respond to widely differing stimuli by the time the mature puberty glands begin to send their impulses to satisfy what is by now a definite and specific mate-hunger.

Which means that by the time we reach the marrying age the mate we choose, if any, will be more or less already picked out for us. Romeo-and-Juliet is sound psychology and natural behavior "That is the man I want." "I couldn't possibly love that woman." We are so certain we call it instinct; and say that "marriages are made in heaven."

Maybe. But it is on earth we wake up to discover that we have married a dimple, a Cupid's bow, a broad chest, a mustache, purple socks, a Roman nose, a blue dress, a trim ankle, or a head of hair. That, in short, we have married certain trimmings and accessories. And we go on through life buying magazines by their covers, cars by their colors, and coats by their buttons.

"Things and places" says Watson, "tend to become associated with erghnic responses, specifically those with love." Every object, by virtue of the original bent of the individual, or through conditioned reflex or habit, calls out overt or delayed response in the motor mechanism; also, "a definite and complex group of reflex activity in the erogenous zone."

Life's Important Factors

Here, then, is the sex-appetite mechanism which early in life begins to sort the little world about into loved ones and those it does not care for. Through the mechanism of habit and reflex functions, objects which at first had no emotional value "come later to arouse faintly or overtly one or other of the two impulses"—tumescence or detumescence.

To the objection that this view over-emphasizes the instinctive factor of love, Watson points out that the love and do-not-love factors are at the bottom of home, general, social and vocational life. We work long hours to improve our position to make more money to carry on home life on a broader scale. "The activities centered about loved ones from infancy to old age are easily the most important factors in life. No wonder that our acts are connected with and evalued by the connections lying below our language level."

Here again, as always, we come back to that as yet unsolved problem of two faces. The significance and extent of individual inheritance; the degree to which this individual inheritance can be conditioned. Do our original tendencies make us, or our parents and our teachers and our environment? Or, put the question this way. Where does nature leave off and nurture begin? Nature never leaves off—we may be certain of that. Nurture begins at once—there is no doubt about that. But as Watson says, as long as we keep up our sentimental drivel about children instead of looking at childhood as a problem, the problem of individual bents and capacities will remain as chaotic as it is now.

Business of Adjustment

As it is now, we are all tied up with sticky sentimentality about Alma Maters and hurrahing without stopping to inquire if it is worth hurrahing about. We have a huge youth-cult: enormous and costly equipment to train boys and girls in the way they want or are fitted to go? Not "in the way they ought to go!" As one calls the roll of the men who have rendered useful social service, one is impressed by the notion that most of them succeeded not because, but in spite, of their "training." It almost seems as if the best equipment with which to start life is a widowed mother who turns one adrift at eight.

Born with an elaborate mechanism for adjustment, we face three doctors, two nurses, several servants, father, mother, aunts, uncles, etc., all on their toes to adjust for us. Nature never gets a chance. Nurture cries when we do not smile back. To make us smile, they tickle us under the chin and trot us on their knees and bribe us with candy and ribbons and gewgaws.

And so our food-appetites, sex-appetites, fears and rages slop over into endless things that are not to be eaten or loved, nor to be run from or killed. Indigestion—or adiposity; celibacy—or promiscuity; afraid of shadows, facts and death; and war on our neighbors instead of against poverty, squalor and ignorance.

Love and such move the world, move it in many ways because instinctive responses can be and must be conditioned. The conditioned response is our only mechanism for learning to behave like human beings. Love is a driving force of great dynamic power. But such grist as it does grind!

GERMANS DELAY HOP

International News Service.

DUBLIN, March 27.—Surrounded by armed guards in its sealed hangar at the Baldonnel Airfield here, the Junkers monoplane Bremen stood poised today for a westward hop over the Atlantic. The start will be made at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning with Capt. Herman Koehl, Germany's foremost flier, at the controls.

Koehl will be accompanied by Fritz Loose, relief pilot, and Baron Von Huenefeld, financial backer of the flight. Huenefeld will serve as the official observer.

The fliers had intended to take off on the dangerous and hitherto unaccomplished flight westward at dawn today, but they were so fatigued by their flight from Berlin yesterday that they decided to delay their attempt.

"I hope to get away by 5 o'clock Wednesday morning," Capt. Koehl said last night. "We will head for Newfoundland, and we may land there if weather conditions and the state of our fuel supply make such a course advisable. But our goal is Mitchel Field, N. Y."

Loose arrived here several days ago with a crew of mechanics to make arrangements for the landing and refueling of the ship. He supplants Arthur Spindler, the mechanician, who flew from Berlin with Koehl as relief pilot.

SHIP OVERHAULED

The mechanics tuned up the plane's motor today, overhauled the rest of the ship thoroughly and fitted it with a new type of undercarriage designed by Prof. Junkers especially for this flight.

The Bremen will carry no radio. Nor will the fliers carry life belts or other emergency safety devices.

OUR hero often had eyed those few men who make church-going a gala event, in that on Sunday morning they don a silk topper, striped trousers and a cut-away coat, and, of course, white spats. He was not a poor boy, but he could not afford a large layout like that, although always it was his ambition to take a stroll out Fifth avenue dressed just that way.

One day he decided he would rent an outfit like that from one of the several establishments in town which will rent one any kind of clothes from a wedding outfit to a costume for a masquerade. On his way home after renting the suit he stopped his machine in front of a store where he wanted to make a small purchase. Upon returning he discovered to his horror that someone had stolen the whole rented outfit. It cost him $100 to settle with the renting agency and ever since that time our hero swears a little every time he sees a man all decked out in a morning suit.

I WANT YOU TO BE BEST MAN AT MY WEDDING !
-AND WEAR A MORNING SUIT ---- OH, NO !

Now he is wealthy and can afford such an outfit—but an easily understood prejudice will not let him purchase the outfit he once craved. Recently he declined to be best man at a fashionable wedding because he would not wear a morning suit.

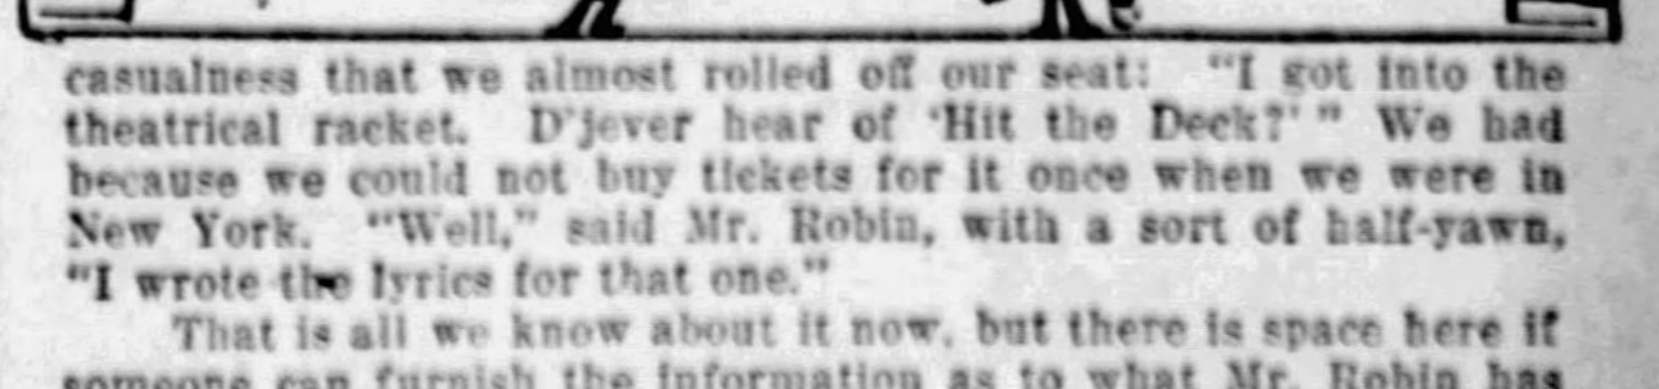
IN AN amusement advertisement of the musical show, "Hit the Deck," there were given the names of the men responsible for the production. One of the lines said: "Lyrics by Leo Robin and—" we forget the other name now.

A few years ago on the old Chronicle Telegraph there was a Jewish boy named Leo Robin who was a reporter. For a time he served on the telegraph desk, too. Later, he joined the advertising staff of the Blaw-Knox Steel Company, a Pittsburgh district concern, located, strangely enough, at Blaw-Knox, Pa., just a few miles away in that dale known as the Allegheny Valley.

It is the same Leo Robin, we now recall, for about a year ago, while returning to Pittsburgh from the East, we met Mr. Robin who passed the time of night in the smoker and who in answer to a casual question as to what he was doing in the way of keeping the wolf out of the vestibule remarked with so much casualness that we almost rolled off our seat: "I got into the theatrical racket. D'jever hear of 'Hit the Deck?'" We had because we could not buy tickets for it once when we were in New York. "Well," said Mr. Robin, with a sort of half-yawn, "I wrote the lyrics for that one."



I WROTE THE LYRICS FOR "HIT THE DECK" !
YOU DON'T SAY ?

That is all we know about it now, but there is space here if someone can furnish the information as to what Mr. Robin has done since striking this big success.

HOW do you write lyrics? How do you sell them? How much do you get for them? Is it difficult or easy? These are some of the questions that should come out of the Leo Robin story.

JERRY The Epic of a Girl Who Had to Wait · by Elenore MEHERIN

Jerry Tells Saxon He Will Be Happier Free; He Tells Her He Loves Her

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Jerry King, good looking, charming and nineteen, falls in love at first sight with Saxon Rhodes, a young architect. Marza, her fascinating mother, warns her that idealists like Saxon make poor husbands. In spite of his flirtation with other girls Jerry confesses her love for him, and when he goes abroad to study, promises to wait for him. She refuses a proposal of marriage from Heinie Ross, a wealthy suitor. Jerry agrees to wait three years longer. She wonders whether Saxon loves her as completely as she loves him. Saxon calls on his sister who warns him against marrying anyone and facing poverty. Saxon's attention to Ora Pringle gives Jerry a pang of jealousy. Saxon apologizes for his neglect. They attend a week end party where things start to happen. When she gets ready to go home she finds that Saxon has disappeared with Ora. She decides to give Saxon up.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

SHE nodded, watching the rippling white trail the boat left on the waters.

"Why do you want to make a tragedy of it?" he asked abruptly.

She gave a faint smile. This was like him—putting her on the defensive. He always did when they disagreed.

She lacked a sense of humor when she grew weary of incessant risque stories; she was a prude if she saw harm in a near-amour with someone else's wife, or danger in a drunken youth driving an automobile.

Usually she won these verbal tiffs. For she could outboob him. Out-grin and out-ridicule him.

But now she looked across to the sun gleaming through mists on the Sausalito hills. And with each moment felt more crushed and more subdued.

This wasn't love sitting beside her in the golden autumn twilight; not love so busily seeking its own defense and wanting to put her in the wrong. It was love's antithesis—self.

And now in the brooding quiet a sense of fatality crept up and sat between them.

"Have you anything to say?" he asked accusingly.

"Oh, millions of words. But words won't alter facts."

"What facts! Unless you're jumping to conclusions because of Saturday night. I don't know why you're making an issue of the whole thing. After all it was pretty crude the way you all bolted after coming for the week-end. This time was no worse than others."

"John had an order to get through. He couldn't afford to stay up all night. There were no beds for all of us. We didn't leave because we weren't pleased. Phil was perfectly satisfied with it."

"You weren't helping John put through that order, were you? I got drunk for the space of half an hour. The first time you ever saw me drunk. So you run off and ditch me."

"No! I didn't run out on you. I came back and searched all over—ages. Then I saw you going through the garden. I ran after you. I called and called. But you got into the car. You drove off with her. I didn't know where. There seemed nothing for me to do. After all, you're a man and free."

"What do you mean by that?"

She said, white and quiet: "Not what you're thinking! I'm not telling you that I'm through because you chose to go off with Ora Pringle. I could forgive a physical infidelity."

"There's none to forgive."

"I wish there were and that it were all! For that's such a venial offense compared to other things. The thing that is deadly: that makes it impossible for two persons to go on is the infidelity of the spirit. And this is between us."

As the words came slowly into being—slowly and starkly, she was appalled to have uttered them.

He grew pale. He said ominously: "Did you discover all this on Saturday night? Because I sat next her at the table? Because I got an edge on and went for an hour's ride with her?"

He went on railing and accusing.

She thought, burning: "Why did I come? Oh, what a shame! How can he say these things so angrily!"

With a vague terror she perceived that she was waiting for him to soften; to put his arms about her—secretly, madly wanting this.

Waiting for him to deny the barriers between them; annihilate them with a tender: "Darling thing, how can you talk of parting—you and I? Oh, let's begin again!"

All her decision; all the truth her mind so clearly perceived would vanish. Nothing remain but him and her boundless need and worship. Her mind relinquished him. Her heart clung on and clung.

But he didn't suffer. He said moodily: "Saturday afternoon you weren't feeling this way. Today you are. So of course it's on account of what happened. Do you realize what you've said, Jerry? That we can't go on! You can sit there perfectly calm and say this?"

She stooped over and dropped her lighted cigaret in the water. Perfectly calm with that wild blood beating agony on her brain—

"No—I'm not very calm—I'm not very thrilled. I'm not wanting this. It's here. I'm only seeing it."

She flung her head back astonished to find tears rushing to her eyes.

"Oh, Jerry," said he in a burst of young fervor and looking into the misty blue gaze. "How can you say this? How can you be so hard? Because you don't care any more? And once you loved me so . . ."

"I love you that much yet. If you really wanted me. You don't. It's not just this Saturday. It's all the arguments of all this summer. I've hated those house parties. You enjoy them. We seem to have quarreled incessantly. I guess we've just come to the parting."

Again she paused, wondering how she could be wild enough to repeat this terrible sentence.

She went on weakly: "In your heart you don't believe in marriage. You don't want to marry, Saxon. And you're glad that we can't.

"So I think it would be better for us to call off all promises.

"But we can be friends—oh, we'll surely keep on being friends—"

Suddenly he was stooping to her, his palms pressing hers into the chill sands: "Do you think you mean this, Jerry? No, you don't! Tell me—do you believe what I said about Saturday—about her?"

He poured intent, burning eyes on hers. "Believe me?"

"Yes—about that. It's not important—"

"It is important."

"It only clouds the issue, Saxon. Whether Saturday happened or not, this break was coming. You've known it! Oh, Saxon, you've resented me. . . . You've taunted me for caring for you—

"You'll be happier free from me. You think you should deny this. But why?

"Why should we pretend? After all this summer—after all the disillusions why should we deny a fact? You don't care as you did. That's not your fault. You can't help it that you no longer love me . . ."

"Don't say it again!" He pulled her to him, half laughing, but with a trail of moisture against her cheek. "I'm not perfect, Jerry. I've been to blame . . . I love you!"

She closed her eyes, her heart bounding—eager—credulous . . . her mind whispering—good-by—we know it is good-by.

He lingered at the door: "Darling thing—am I forgiven? Tomorrow the sun will shine—"

She went absently through the living room.

At the door of Marza's room she paused, about to call her. She noticed suddenly the drawers opened—an unusual disorder.

She went to shut this drawer. It was empty. Alarmed, she pulled out other drawers. They were all empty.

A wave of heat and alarm bore over her. She flew to the closet. Marza's clothes were gone.

Suddenly on the bureau she saw letters. One to her—one to Robert Caples. Marza was gone.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

A WARM, loaded moment, Jerry stood with Marza's letter in her hands. Then terror burst, sweeping to her the image of Marza with fear and veiled horror in her eyes. Marza with the exquisite head thrown back, the flashing astonishment of white throat and red, dreaming smile; but a Marza saying that bleak sentence: "I've lived too long. And now my beauty is digging its grave subtly, inevitably in my face. Oh, ignominy to outstay one's radiance."

"Oh, God," thought Jerry, tearing the envelope, "what has she done?"

The letter was written in a distracted scrawl:

"Darling Pet, don't be alarmed I've just received a wire from my sister. She's dying. I must leave. Why are you not at home? Oh, my pet, don't be too lonesome. Have Inga and Silvia stay with you. Please see that Robert gets this letter. He will return to town Saturday. Bring it to him, then, at once. It is very important. Now I have but five minutes more before I must catch the train. I want to see you—bitterly. I'm leaving myself just the bare necessary time in the hope of your return. Goodby, my pet, and all your mother's love."

On the bureau under the letter was their joint bankbook, the keys to the apartment and a few hasty instructions.

Twice Jerry read that letter, her throat parched. Suddenly she dashed to the phone and inquired what time trains left for Chicago.

"The last one left at six this evening—the next at 11 in the morning."

Six—Gone but an hour.

Had she really gone? Oh, surely! Only a coincidence that Marza said that desperate thing. It was that old sister—that old sister with her sinister power to distract Marza, sink her in gloom. Jerry stood at the phone, holding tightly to the mouthpiece.

She came back and read the letter over and over. She held the envelope containing Robert's message to the light. Should she open this? Marza loved Robert Caples. Had her hasty departure anything to do with him?

She was suddenly aware of a blasting fear that grew with the hush and the hours.

By midnight she was wild with it. Finally she went to the phone and sent a telegram to her mother addressed to the Chicago-bound train.

"Wire the moment you receive this, no matter what time it is. Are you all right? I'm beside myself and want to follow you in the morning. Let me? Jerry."

CONSTIPATION CAUSES TROUBLE

But there's a way to safe relief

It's so easy to become constipated these days—what with soft food, lack of exercise, modern rush and hurry. So easy, indeed, that many of the worst sufferers don't even realize what's the trouble with them.

They go through life—half-way sick, half-way tired. From time to time, they resort to drugs and pills. But these afford no more than temporary relief. Often enough, they only increase the trouble.

Headaches, sleeplessness, backaches, sallow cheeks, fading hair—these are all symptoms of this widespread affliction. Sooner or later it leads to serious disease. Stop dangerous constipation! Stop habit-forming drugs! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN points the way to natural relief. Two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal—are guaranteed to relieve constipation.

Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN because it is 100% bran—100% effective. A health cereal to serve with milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Sprinkle into soups. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Madge Attempts to Solve the Miss Lincoln Mystery

KATIE is by no means dull of perception and I think she fully comprehended the real meaning of the caution I had given her. She knew, by my speech and manner, though I had carefully omitted any direct reference, that I had caught her inadvertent betrayal of her eavesdropping upon Dicky and the red-bearded man, but the knowledge did not abash her in the least. She tossed her head and shrugged her shoulders with an air of being forced to desert a post of responsibility.

"All right, eef dot vay you feel, I remember," she said loftily, and I left the kitchen with the innocuous and hurried advice that she go to bed. But I did not go directly back to the veranda. At the risk of having my absence construed as a slight to my guests, I went into the library and sat down for a minute or two, setting into my patchwork quilt of impressions concerning Eleanor Lincoln the oddly shaped pieces which Katie just had given me.

Upon another occasion I had learned from my little maid's lips that my husband had recognized the red-bearded man as a former acquaintance, probably of his army experience overseas. Astonishing as that information was, it paled beside this story which indicated that Dicky was on confidential terms with the red-bearded man who lived in the shack in the woodland adjoining the farm, and that he shared with him a sort of responsibility for the actions of the vagabond's even more villainous-looking companion.

Katie's report of Dicky's conversation with the man gave me also the astonishing confirmation of my fantastic conjecture that he knew much of Miss Lincoln's identity and of the reasons for her terror of the men in the shack.

Out of my maze of conjectures I filed away several unmistakable facts in the compartment of my mental card index which I had devoted to Eleanor Lincoln.

The hoot of the owl had been a signaling call from a human voice.

It was a signal familiar to the girl, and the sound of it had so terrorized her that she swooned.

Without an instant's delay Dicky had suspected—or known—what it was, and had dashed out in pursuit of the man.

This companion of the red-bearded man must be the more vicious of the two, and Dicky must be cognizant of some real and imminent danger threatening the girl at his hands.

It was with a feeling of angry resentment against my husband that I finally went back to the veranda. A sinister mystery enveloped the personality of a girl whom at his request I was entertaining almost as an intimate of the family, and he was vouchsafing no knowledge concerning it.

As I came through the hall I met a little procession consisting of Katherine, Marion and Junior patently bound for the second floor. Junior was clinging to Marion's hand and excitedly reminding her of a promise to tell him "all about school," while Katherine was giving him a necessary admonition to lower his voice. I gave Junior his goodnight kiss, and then as he went upstairs, Katherine whispered an amused warning.

"Mother Graham is getting pretty tired," she said. "She wants to go upstairs, but you know her ideas. She won't stir until you are there to play the hostess."

Beef Kidney Stew

After skinning, coring and blanching in salted water one hour, dry and slice the kidneys in medium slices. Roll each slice in a little flour mixed with a little salt and pepper. Put a tablespoonful of butter into a deep steel frying pan and when melted put in a finely minced onion and let cook until soft. Then lay in the kidneys and brown them quickly on each side. Now turn in a large cupful and a half of rich, well-flavored stock, cover and stew gently until the kidneys are tender—about one hour. Meanwhile work together a heaping tablespoonful of butter and a rounding tablespoonful and a half of flour. Add a teaspoonful at a time, stirring it in well until all is used, then recover and simmer gently for 20 minutes more. Add a little pepper, salt and a saltspoonful of sugar. Make a border of mashed potato on a hot dish, then pour the stew into the center. Serve apple sauce with the stew.

They're Mine

By Edna Wallace Hopper

Many women in my audiences ask whether my teeth are my own. It probably is natural to wonder whether a woman in her sixties has retained her teeth. Mine are my own and I'm careful of them. I have always been as diligent in cleaning my teeth as I have been in caring for my skin. I used to use a dentifrice, a mouth wash and a deodorant to sweeten my breath.

Now I am able to obtain all these necessary guards in a tooth paste, called Quindent, the five-in-one dentifrice. It has a pleasant, mild taste, is an effective cleanser and polisher and, best of all, contains milk of magnesia, which I formerly had to use separately as a mouth wash. This combats the ever-present acids, which are destructive to enamel.

Experts collaborated to produce Quindent. Now you can get it at your local toilet counter. The price is 50 cents for a large tube.

POLISHES
FLOORS, WOODWORK, FURNITURE, AUTOMOBILES, LINOLEUM

Now! Give All Your Furniture that New Waxed Look!

The attractiveness of present-day furniture lies in the beauty of its soft, subdued finish. Unfortunately, many housewives rob their furniture of its charm by using the same polish they used on old-fashioned shiny furniture.

The rich beauty of grand pianos and fine furniture is made possible by a wax finish. To preserve this, you should use the same wax polish that is used by the furniture factories themselves.

Old English Liquid Wax is the genuine Old English Wax in liquid form—made especially for easy use on fine furniture and woodwork. Simply dampen a cloth with it and go lightly over the surface. After a few minutes rub to a polish with a dry, soft cloth.

The result is a dry, wax finish that will not collect lint or dust and can be rubbed up for weeks afterward. In addition, the wax protects the furniture from scratches and fingermarks—because the wear is on the wax, not on the wood.

Get a can today and see for yourself how it will improve the appearance of every piece of furniture in your home—old or new. Use it also for polishing and cleaning floors, linoleums. The pint and quart sizes are ideal for the home.

On sale at all paint, hardware, drug, housefurnishing and department stores.

GOLDENSON HONORED

Temple Sisterhood, and S. Leo Ruslander, president of the Men's Society of the congregation, both pledging renewed efforts of their organizations to co-operate in the work of humanitarian service carried on by Dr. Goldenson. Dr. B. V. Glazer, associate rabbi at Rodef Shalom, and Rabbi B. A. Lichter of B'Nai Israel congregation, made eloquent addresses extolling the example of righteousness set before them in the head of Rodef Shalom.

Tributes of the Christian ministers were expressed in five-minute addresses. Epitomized in a few words, these expressions of good will and fellowship were:

The Rev. Dr. Albert E. Day, Christ Methodist Episcopal Church.—"This man (Dr. Goldenson) comes to me as prophet, priest and friend. He looks beyond all creeds into the souls of men."

The Rev. Dr. C. W. Petty, First Baptist Church.—"I always think of Dr. Goldenson as a friend of God and a friend of man. I think of him as such a friend as Abraham of old."

The Rev. Thomas F. Coakley, Sacred Heart Catholic Church.—"There isn't anything worth while in this community in which he cannot have our help. I am charged by my congregation to offer our best wishes and prayers for the one hundredth anniversary of Dr. Goldenson's career of service."

The Rev. Dr. William R. Farmer, Western Theological Seminary.—"I find him a perfect gentle knight, courageous, high minded and possessing all those attributes which we attach to our conception of the dignity of the flower of manhood."

The Rev. Dr. L. Walter Mason, First Unitarian Church.—"Your nearest neighbor, I bring congratulations on having for your leader a man worthy of the ancient title he wears—rabbi, learned doctor and wise teacher."

The Rev. Dr. E. J. Van Etten, Calvary Protestant Episcopal Church.—"We are here tonight to honor ourselves in expressing our appreciation of the religious and civic leader among us."

The Rev. Dr. C. A. Voss, Smithfield Street German Evangelical Church.—"Here tonight let us glimpse the dawn of a new day—a day of tolerance when we shall constitute one brotherhood under one Father in Heaven. Let us consecrate ourselves to this service to God and to mankind."

A social hour followed the anniversary exercises.

Puts Rheumatics on Their Feet

Wonderful Effect of Nurito that Actually Enables the Helpless to Go Back to Work.

DRUGGISTS GUARANTEE IT

Rheumatic sufferers are certainly going wild with joy at the discovery of Nurito. For the first time they have found something they can absolutely depend upon to rid them of the pain of rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, neuralgia or neuritis. And to make it more emphatic, if it doesn't drive away the worst pain with two or three doses, the druggist will refund your money. A New York specialist was finally induced to put up his famous prescription as a great public benefit. It works like a charm, fast and powerful, but harmless even to children, no opiates or other narcotics. By all means make a trial of this remarkable prescription that gets the helpless out of bed, sends them back to work, happy and free.

Nurito is now sold in the drug stores and is the greatest blessing yet discovered for those tortured with pains of rheumatism. Try it today. Don't wait. At all druggists and McCulloch Drug Stores.

STOP BAD BREATH

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after-effects.

Olive Tablets bring no griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil—you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c. All druggists.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

SPRING MORNINGS

EVERY spring love-affair brings you nearer to the end of your illusions—but isn't the scenery wonderful?

* * *

Every year somebody predicts "the passing of the flapper;" but that doesn't prevent a wise wife from taking care to see that her husband is looking the other way, when she "passes."

* * *

A spring cold is the acid test of love. But the love that can't survive a girl's red nose, is too weak to limp through life with, anyway.

HELEN ROWLAND

There are more than fifty-seven ways to lose a man, but the surest is by demanding more devotion than he wants to give, and the quickest by giving more devotion than he demands.

The world is full of apparently contented wives, who would not be half so disappointed as their husbands fondly fancy, to wake up and discover that their marriage was just an April fool's joke.

* * *

Perhaps most of these women who try to drive from the back seat got their early training from the little "efficiency experts" who try to run the house from the morris chair.

Never flatly refuse to kiss him—but sometimes keep him waiting. Love thrives so much better on the stimulant of suspense, than on the anesthetic of memory.

* * *

It has taken evolution thousands of years to make a man out of a monkey—and along comes a little blonde gold-digger and reverses the whole thing in twenty minutes.

* * *

There comes a time in every man's life, when he knows exactly what kind of woman will make him perfectly happy—usually about a year after he has married the OTHER kind.

For the Lovelorn

Beeh

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have been reading your columns for months and I think it is very interesting. On New Year's Day I met a few fellows while ice skating and I am in love with one of them already. The first night I met them this one fellow asked to take me home to which I gave my consent. As I had two girl friends with me his boy friends took them home also. For the next five evenings of skating he took me home. He asked me for my picture and I gave it to him. He told my girl friend that he liked me very well. He also asked me for a date but I didn't give him any. Do you think I should or not? Another problem of mine is: There's a boy friend of mine goes skating at the same lake as we go. But at present we do not speak, but I was in love with him until I met this other fellow. As my girl friends all know him and know how I like him they point him out to me while skating and told this fellow (that I am at present in love with) about him being once upon a time my sweetheart and he asked questions about if I liked him and other things. And when I mention his name in front of him they say it makes him jealous. Do you think it right to mention it? BEEH.

Your first mistake, my dear, was in talking with these boys who had never been introduced to you. Stay with your own friends whom you know and like.

Fourteen

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am 14 years old, Miss Gale. I do not have dates with boys and do not want to. However, on some Sunday afternoons two boys come over to see my sister and I. We don't consider it being a date when they come over because we don't believe in having dates now. Mother approves of the boys coming, and they don't come real often. Now, Miss Gale, is it all right for me to wear that boy's pin? Nobody knows whose pin it is but the family, and no one has objected.

FOURTEEN.

If your parents consent to your having the pin, it must be all right, my dear.

Some One's Sweetheart

DEAR MISS GALE:

There is a certain young man whom I adore. I am engaged to him, but secretly, because my parents would never consider my marrying him. I have been going with young men for four years, going with this certain one for two years steady, and still I think he is the one and only one for me. Now here are some of my questions: I have always had everything I wanted at home and now my parents figure that if I marry this young man I won't get everything I want. But dear Miss Gale there isn't a thing in this world that I want nearly as much as I want this young man. I could live without anything except this young man. Life would not be worth living without him. My parents both have old-fashioned ideas and think this modern age is shocking. Miss Gale, I agree with you on the smoking, drinking and petting questions. When I talk about marrying at home my mother says she will put me in Reform School. So please tell me how old you have to be before you are too old to go to Reform School. I am now 18½ and think I have a fairly good mind of my own. No matter where I go in the evening I am always home no latter than 10:30 or 11 o'clock and still my parents think that is too late. Please Miss Gale do not tell me to wait a year or so longer as that is impossible. We now have arrangements to be married in the spring. We have already planned together and agreed that we can live comfortably on my friends income.

SOME ONE'S SWEETHEART.

You anticipated my advice exactly, my dear. You are still very young and can afford to take you parents' wishes into consideration.

Brown Eyes

DEAR MISS GALE:

I love a boy that is 20 years old and I am 16 years old. In every letter that he writes me he asks me to marry him. What do you think, as I still go to school and I want to finish first. Please advise. "BROWN EYES."

You are much too young to think of marriage, my dear. Tell him quite definitely that you will not even consider such a thing.

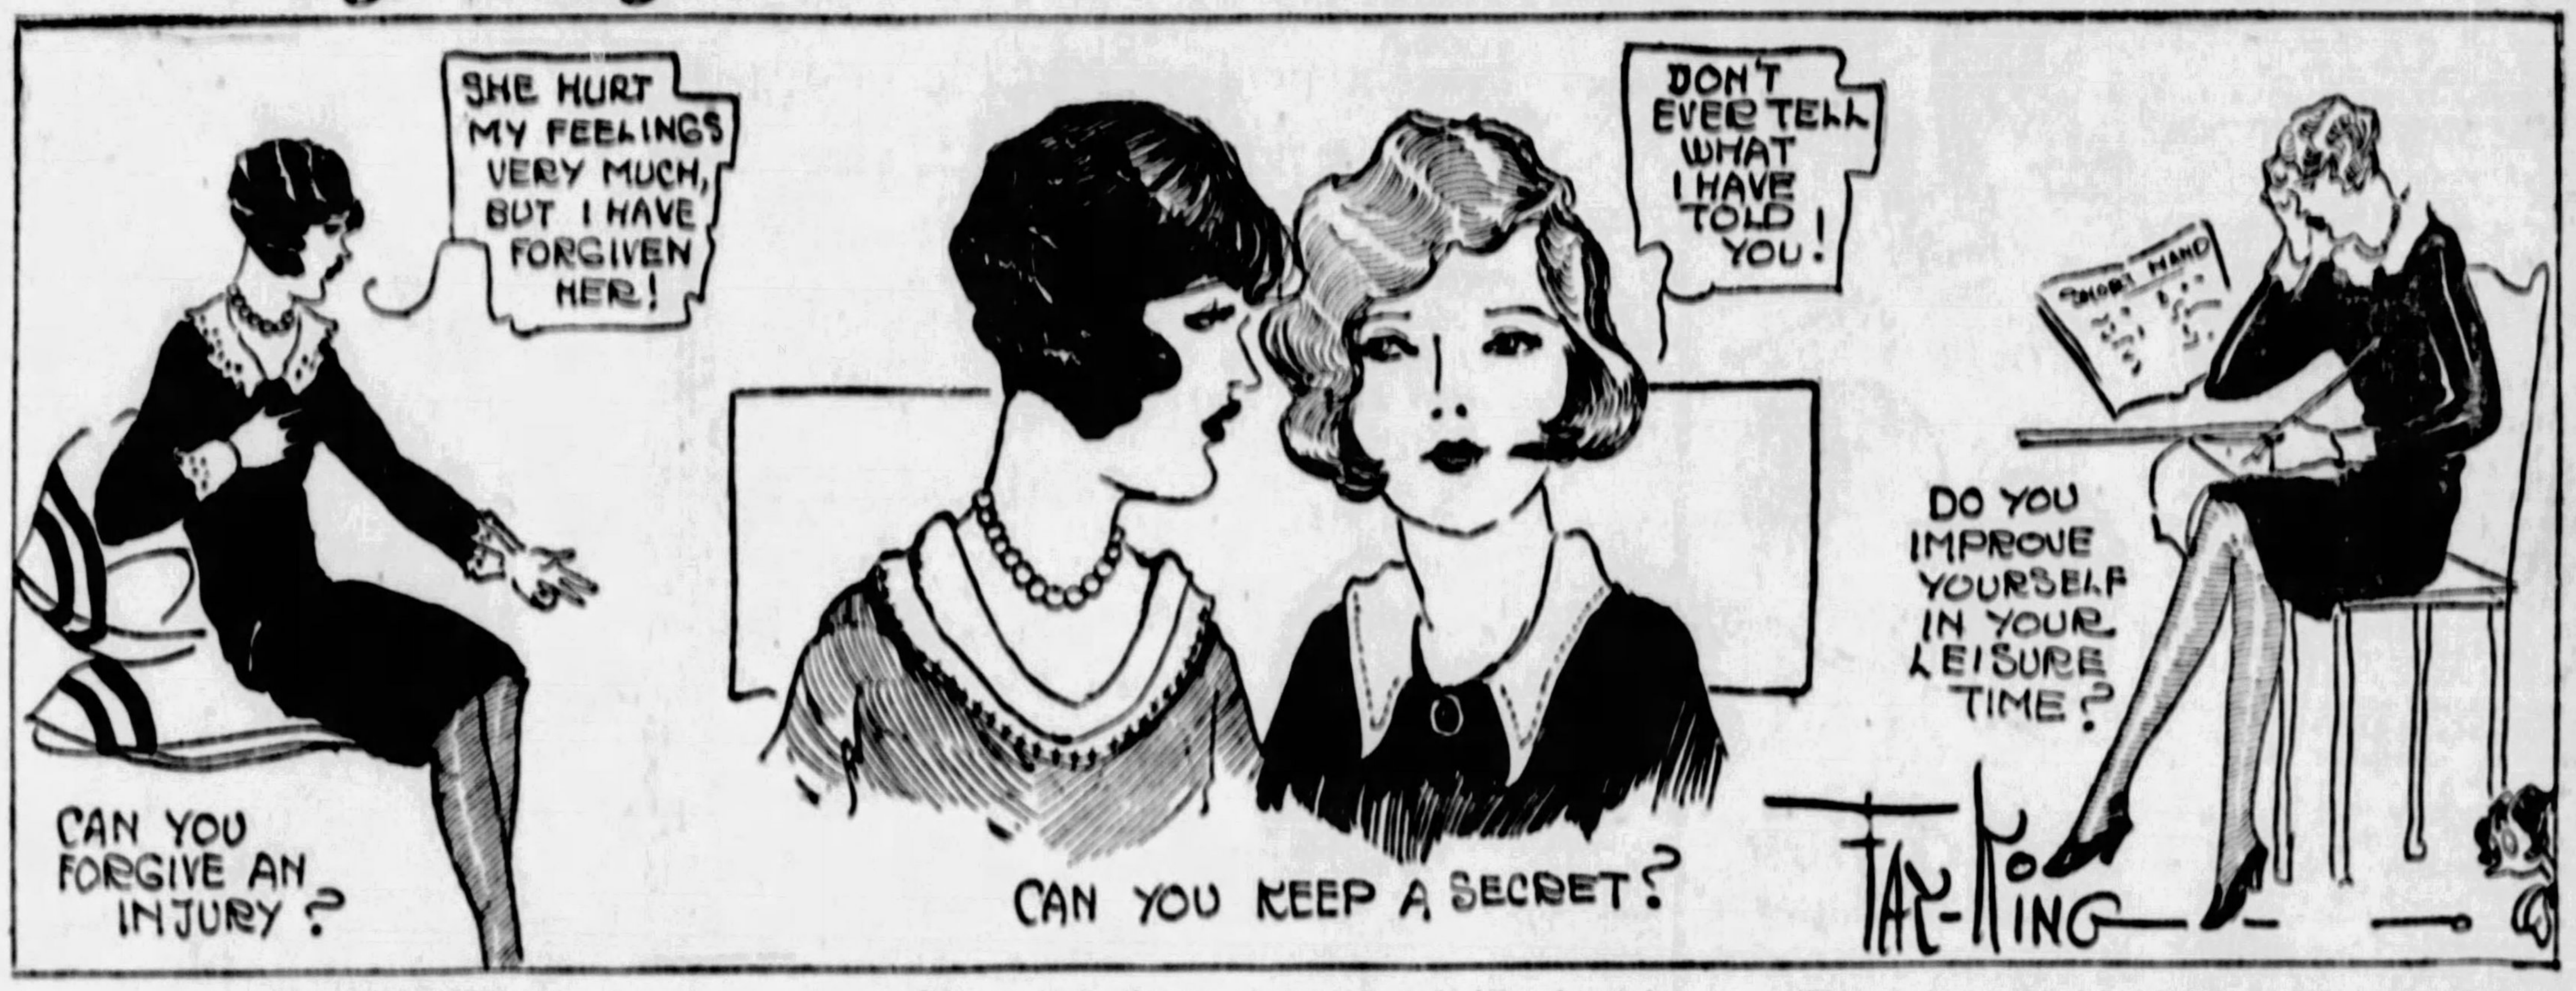
Fay King Gives Three Golden Rules for Life



SHE HURT MY FEELINGS VERY MUCH, BUT I HAVE FORGIVEN HER!
CAN YOU FORGIVE AN INJURY?
DON'T EVER TELL WHAT I HAVE TOLD YOU!
CAN YOU KEEP A SECRET?
DO YOU IMPROVE YOURSELF IN YOUR LEISURE TIME?
FAY-KING

By FAY KING

LONG, long ago, when ancient Greece was in its glory, someone asked Chilo, of Sparta, what he considered were the three most difficult things for man to do.

After meditating sometime the wise man answered:

"To keep a secret. To fgrgive an injury. To make profitable use of leisure time."

It seems to me that no wiser words could be spoken today. What applies to man applies to woman.

To keep a secret is a splendid test of character. A confidence given in friendship is a sacred trust which should not be betrayed, even when the friendship ceases. To keep one's own secrets is even wiser than confiding in one's dearest friend.

To forgive, even if one cannot forget! Don't clutter up your head and heart with bitter memories! Forgive, and make room for better things. Forgiving is the first step in forgetting!

What we do to earn an honest living in life matters little. It is how we spend our leisure time that counts! Those who do the humblest work, to live honestly, but spend their leisure time in improving their minds, are living richer lives than the rich who waste their time in dissipation!

Remember Chilo's wise words, spoken so long, long ago!

Cultivate silence. Do not hold resentments. Improve yourself in your leisure time!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

"Working Up Hill" a Dangerous Practice

IT IS unwise to permit yourself to do any kind of work so steadily and regularly that you go to bed completely exhausted.

DR COPELAND

"Hard work never hurt anybody," is an old saying. In general, I accept it as a statement of fact. But there is a difference between being tired after a day of hard work, on the one hand, and, on the other, to be absolutely prostrated, exhausted in nerve and muscle, and barely able to drag yourself to bed.

It is natural and normal to get tired. I refer now to that state which is speedily forgotten. From the right kind of tiredness there is quick recovery. A good hot meal, a jig piece on the Victrola, and you are ready for the movies, or some other diversion.

Nature made our tissues so elastic and our recuperative powers so great that we do not stay "flat" very long. We quickly respond to the change which evening brings.

But the thing I have in mind today is not the tiredness which honest labor produces. It is the utter prostration which follows too long application of mind and body to intricate, puzzling, exacting and wearing problems.

Almost always the kind of work I am thinking about is not manual labor merely. It isn't something that willing hands and active muscles can do. If this were all, there would be no difficulty about it.

But this isn't all. It is the work done in the shadow of grief, anxiety, or real labor. Working in that gloom, there is no use trying to see clearly, or to deal easily with the probem at hand.

When you find yourself "working up hill," you should stop long enough to find out what is wrong with you or your surroundings. One important thing to look into is your state of health.

Too often it happens that some unsuspected physical ailment is responsible for the anxiety of mind. There cannot be clear thinking if the body is diseased.

When utter exhaustion at the end of the day is the rule, it may be due to a combination of troubles. The underlying ailment may poison the system. This poisoning may have mental depression and worry among its evil consequences. All working together sap the strength and vitality.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Wednesday, March 28

THIS day's astrological chart holds very contradictory planetary configurations. While things may assume very lively phases in both business and in personal affairs, yet there are some auguries for anxiety and generally upsetting conditions. There may be an unplanned change and also there may be trouble in employment. Change cautiously and be alert to treachery.

Those whose birthday it is should prepare for a year of activity and possible upheaval, with unforeseen and abrupt changes. While these may assume a happy shape in the personal, business or professional relations, the employment may be cause for anxiety.

A child born on this day should be clever, versatile and, with many social and cultural graces and talents, should make a success for itself, but may not be so well favored in employment of others.

Excess Fat Is Folly

Reduce as your friends did

Look about you—note how slenderness prevails. Excess fat is the exception now. You must realize that some great factor has helped to bring this change. That factor is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. It is a substance which, in the body, turns food into fuel and energy rather than into fat. Marmola supplies it to those who have too little.

Medical science discovered this factor over two decades ago. For over 20 years people have used it in Marmola and told others the results. Millions of boxes have been employed in fighting excess fat. Now almost everybody has slender friends who can tell what Marmola did

No abnormal exercise or diet is required, though moderation aids results. Simply take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal. Then cease, unless you start to gain again.

Try Marmola, in justice to yourself. Watch its results in new beauty, new health and vitality. You cannot afford to stay fat when natural reduction has become so easy. The complete formula is stated in every box, also the reasons for results, to banish any fear of harm. Order now, before you forget it, and you will always be glad that you read this.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

SPORT COMMENT

by

JAMES J. LONG

BOXING followers in general will await with keen interest developments in the attempt of Humbert Fugazy and Jim Mullen, big-time promoters of New York and Chicago, respectively, to smash the so-called monopoly in the heavyweight fistic division, which has been enjoyed for many years by Tex Rickard.

Humbert Fugazy.

Evidently Fugazy and Mullen are firm believers in the truth of the old saw that "in unity there is strength."

Single-handed, each of them has been endeavoring for some time to break Rickard's grip on the "big stuff" in the fight game, but, failing to make any appreciable progress by that system, they have decided to try the "double-teaming" method, planning an elimination series, not only in the heavyweight division, but in all other classes, and hoping to sign all logical contenders by assuring them fights in New York as well as in Chicago.

JUST how far Fugazy and Mullen will be able to get with their project is a question, but it seems certain to benefit the boxing game in any event.

No sport can thrive for long under monopolies or one-man control. Competition is the life of trade, and that goes for the fight game as well as for any other branch of business.

Things have come to such a pass that the public must accept in the heavyweight class whatever Rickard and his associates are pleased to give it, and some of the stuff that they have been pleased to give it of late was not very savory.

Jim Mullen.

Rickards's ability as a promoter and showman is not to be disputed, and apart from his elimination matches, some of which did not "go down" very well, the manner in which he has handled most of the heavyweight championship affairs has left little to be desired. But there should be no czars nor one-man powers in sport, and the Fugazy-Mullen combination cannot fail to bring good results even if it serves only to keep things straight in other directions.

ANOTHER thing that you've got to admire about the Fugazy-Mullen plan is its fairness.

Look over the list of fighters who are booked for competition in the heavyweight elimination tourney aimed "to find a real contender" and you will observe that in addition to Paulino Uzcudun, Robert Roberti, Knute Hansen, Amano Emanuel, Les Marriner, Victorio Campolo, Phil Scott, Jack Dorval and Karl Kress-

Gardner Spurts Again

OLD LAGUNA PUEBLO, N. M., March 27.—(AP.)—Covering the 33.9 miles from Grants, N. M., to this town, in 4:41, Ed Gardner, of Seattle, won the 23rd lap of the Los Angeles-to-New York marathon. Gardner's elapsed time for the 806 miles from Los Angeles is 154:30:06.

Peter Gavuzzi of Southampton, England, and Andrew Payne, who are running neck and neck for second place on the basis of elapsed time, came in at the same time to tie for second. Their time was 5:02:30. Gavuzzi's elapsed time is 139:42:16, Payne's 139:21:47.

Arne Soumien, Detroit, who leads the runners with elapsed time of 136:14:00, was third yesterday, finishing in 6:09:55. John Gober, Moberly, Mo., was next in 5:18:20. Gober's elapsed time is 219:18:40.

MARULLO WINS OVER M'TIGUE

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP.)—Tony (Young) Marullo of New Orleans won a judges' decision over Mike McTigue, former light-heavyweight champion of the world, in a 10-round bout at St. Nicholas Arena here last night. Marullo weighed 172 pounds, his opponent 174.

Marullo piled up a big lead on the veteran Irishman in the early rounds to take the verdict, which was met with an outburst of jeers from the fans. McTigue put on a spectacular rally in the ninth and tenth sessions, but it was not enough to offset Marullo's performance in the preceding rounds.

Marullo and McTigue roughed up the bout with frequent flurries of hard punching, but there were no knockdowns. The New Orleans scrapper had the better of the struggle in six of the 10 stanzas.

LOCAL SIX HAS JINX TO BEAT IN N.Y.

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP.)—Preliminary matches in the annual world's championship hockey classic—the professional play-off series for the historic Stanley cup—will open tonight in New York and Ottawa between the second and third place finishers in the two divisions of the National Hockey League.

The Ottawa Senators, defending titleholders, must battle the rugged Montreal Maroons for the right to face the flying French Canadiens of Montreal in the Canadian division. Last year the Senators set the pace throughout the league season, coasted into the final, and trounced the Boston Bruins for the title. Ottawa finished a bare third in their division this season.

Madison Square Garden will entertain the New York Rangers and Pittsburgh Pirates in the first of the American division preliminaries. The winner will tackle Boston in the group finals while the Canadian preliminary winner faces Canadiens. The world series between the division finalists, a five-game affair, will open April 5 in the Canadian city winning that half of the playoffs.

WESTINGHOUSE EMPLOYE REAL MENACE IN TITULAR TOURNEY

Coming to Pittsburgh unheralded and unsung a little more than a year ago, William Schettler, a young German engineer, has established himself as one of the outstanding chess players in this community and is figured to make a great bid for the Western Pennsylvania championship in the tournament which gets under way at the Pittsburgh Chess Club next Saturday. He recently won over Paul L. Bowers, the present titleholder, in a match at the Westinghouse Club and has not been defeated here. Pictures above show the 27-year-old chess master at play and in his work over drawings at the Westinghouse plant. The chess pieces for a game, pictured above, consist of the king, queen, two bishops, two knights, two rooks and eight pawns. In addition to meeting Champion Bowers in the coming tournament, Schettler will face H. L. Dolde, for 14 consecutive years Western Pennsylvania champion until he lost the title to Bowers late in 1926.

New Chess Master In Local Ranks

BIDDING fair to outshine all the other stars, a new luminary has appeared in Western Pennsylvania's firmament of chess players in the person of William Schettler, 27-year-old engineer, who spends his days at a drawing board designing intricate machines for the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company and his nights at a chess board in the Westinghouse Club, Wilkinsburg.

Since coming to Pittsburgh from Germany, a little more than a year ago, Schettler has mowed down all opposition that has come before him. His clubmates at the Westinghouse Club not only recognize him as master, but say that he is the strongest player in the Pittsburgh area and are confident he will win the Western Pennsylvania tournament to be held under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Chess Club begin-

SEEMINGLY fighting under wraps, Mike Dundee, Rock Island (Ill.) featherweight, outclassed U. S. Carpentier of New Kensington in the eight-round main bout at Motor Square Garden last night. He won every round by a decisive margin and fought only in spurts and let up every time he had Carp hurt. It looked for all the world as if he "carried" the New Kensingtonian of his own accord. Midway in the last round he opened up with a barrage of blows from both fists that threatened to sweep Carpentier into oblivion, but, satisfied with having shown the fans what he could do if he wanted to, he

RAIN PUTS STOP TO 6TH BUC GAME

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—Our sea-faring Pirates are all set for another boat excursion today with a ball game also listed, provided there is a letup in the heaviest rain that has visited the San Francisco section in many years.

Few of the Buccaneers are good sailors despite their moniker, but Skipper Bush would put to sea in a rowboat if he thought he could discover a treasure island whereon his athletes could frolic for several hours.

The first game of the series scheduled with the Oakland team being postponed, the Pirates again are listed to take on the Pacific Coast League champs this afternoon. In the event of sunshine, Remy Kremer is sure to pitch for the edification of the home folks, but if the game is played under moist conditions Bush will not take a chance on his ace.

Many of the players enjoy the ferryboat trip across the bay, but there are some who are not eager for it. The bay yesterday was exceptionally rough and conducive to seasickness.

PEERY "SEA-SICK"

George Peery, southpaw rookie, had a tough time making the journey. He was a sick boy when he reached the other side, but he was able to make the return trip, although he said he would feel better if he could have walked back. The Pirates reached the ball lot shortly after noon.

The field was wet and the drizzling rain continued to fall.

The members of both clubs dressed for action, but to attempt to stage a game was out of the question.

Bush insisted on a workout for his players and the big squad was able to take a beneficial drill after using shoe-horn methods to dress in a club house that is hardly big enough for a good-sized basketball team. The Oakland boys may be champs and the owners may prate about ballplayers worth $100,000, but they should show a little consideration for the boys who make their profits possibly by erecting a dressing room.

Catcher Johnny Gooch was the

Curley To Stay Here

DICK CURLEY, veteran boxing and wrestling promoter of Philadelphia, New York, New Haven and Chicago, who has been here almost a week with Mike Dundee, of Rock Island, Ill., for the latter's bout with U. S. Carpentier at Motor Square Garden last night, plans to make his home in Pittsburgh in the future and may stage some big boxing shows here, he said last night.

Curley conferred with Boxing Commissioner Havey J. Boyle yesterday with reference to renewing the Pennsylvania license which he held as a promoter in Philadelphia several seasons ago. He would like to put on some big shows at Forbes Field, giving the fans the headliners at popular prices, as he did in Philadelphia, and is confident he can make the venture pay.

"There is no reason why this city, which has produced such stars as Harry Greb, Frank Klaus, George Chip, Jack Zivic, Cuddy DeMarco and others, should not draw well in boxing," Curley said. "I think if the public is given a good run for its money it will patronize the game heavily. I am willing to take the gamble to find out, anyway, and to this end I expect to return from Chicago in about a week and get down to work shaping my plans."

Curley recently married for the second time. He is close to 50 years

ALLAND PLANS TOBOGGANSLIDE

One of the biggest features of the plans for the new Alland Field Club is the two-mile toboggan slide that will mark the winted sports season. The Alland Field Club, which is to be opened in July, is situated 13 miles out of Pittsburgh on the William Penn Highway, near Murrysville, and is to be laid out over 70 acres of ground in Allegheny and Westmoreland counties, from which names the club has derived its title.

The highest point in Westmoreland County is on the property, and this mountain-like hill is to be used for the tobogganing. Skiing is contemplated also.

Attracted by the liberal guaranteed prize list announced for the forthcoming duckpin championship tourney to be held at the Market Square Recreation alleys the first two weeks in April many teams already have sent in their entries and it is expected that a record entry will be had before the lists are closed.

Bowlers of this district are reacting favorably to the action of the American Duckpin Congress in extending its time for receiving entries to its tournament, which will be held from April 9 to 21, for one week, ending at midnight, March 31. The greatest entry list that ever bowled in a tournament in Pittsburgh already is assured.

Kiki Makes Bruins Good

By MARTIN BURKE,
Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, March 27.—Recently an ambitious scribe reported that Kiki Cuyler had made good with the Cubs. We would like to go just a little further. Cuyler has not only made good with the Cubs, but he has made the Cubs good.

Yesterday he had another big plate lunch at the expense of the Angels, leading Chicago to an 11 to 5 triumph over the Junior Wrigley entry from Los Angeles.

He bounced two more drives out of the park, one going over the center field screen for about the longest tap Wrigley Field has ever seen. The other disappeared out of sight in the general direction of the City Hall after clearing left field only a few yards less than a mile. That makes six homers in six days for the chap who had to pick up splinters off the Pirate bench all of last year for his exercise.

In addition to his two circuit connections, Cuyler delivered a single and handcuffed the shortstop for an error, scored four runs and stole two bases. One of his thefts was of home plate on a double steal with Stephenson.

Wonder what's holding the young man back?

On top of his offensive work, Cuyler uncorked some great fielding in the bright sun patch in right, cutting down several doubles into singles with his snappy rescues of hard-hit balls.

only member of the club who did not go across the bay to Oakland Park. Johney is suffering from an attack of grip. He was able to be up and around during a part of the day, but he was not feeling well.

The Pirates are due to wind up their stay in San Francisco tomorrow night. At that time they will board a flyer for Los Angeles where, Thursday they are slated to open a four-game series with the Chicago Cubs. The Cubs, by the way, have been better in regard to spring training and hence should be in a fair position to show the Buccos some lively times.

The outlook for today's game is none too bright, although a contest will be attempted if the weather changes. The Oaks, as well as the Pirates, are eager for action. They are due to start their championship season a week ahead of the big leaguers.

LOCAL GOLFER TIES IN PINEHURST PLAY

PINEHURST, N. C., March 27.—Tom Morrison, of Pittsburgh, played in one of the two foursomes, tying for first place in the tin whistle event here yesterday. Eighty players took part, teams of four pairing up against par.

Others from the district and the scores of their teams were: A. E. Adams, Donald Parson and R. C. Steese, Youngstown, 7 up; J. B. Blackburn, Pittsburgh and J. C. Head, Latrobe, 6 up; T. A. Cheatham, Pittsburgh, 5 up; Lawrence Barr, Pittsburgh, 4 up.

Few Stars On Pitt Squad

By JESS CARVER

IT certainly looked queer yesterday, as the 1928 edition of the University of Pittsburgh football varsity trotted out on the Pitt practice field for its initial spring workout, to see a Pitt squad minus so many stars.

Glancing over the list of those who heard the first roll call, and who will be counted upon to form the Pitt eleven next fall, there is hardly a name to be discovered that really "means anything" so far as being attached to a star is concerned.

Pitt has just the sort of a squad this year that may turn out to be either what the coaches would have you believe it will, just a fair team, or develop into one of those famous wonder elevens.

There wasn't a Welch, or a Booth, a Kern, a Hagan, a Fisher or a Cutler among the four score and more athletes who greeted Coach Sutherland and his assistants yesterday afternoon. There were Capt. Fox, Honey Guarino and Joe Donchess and Monty Montgomery, four vets from last year's team who will be counted upon to form the nucleus of this 1928 outfit. But aside from these four, Pitt is without a real regular.

But there appears to be plenty of chance for the development of future stars. Toby Uansa may make the boys forget Welch. Plug Parkinson is on hand to take up the line cracking duties of Dickie Booth. Charley Edwards, Hood, Wilps, Baker, Williams, Walenchus and Rooney are other backs who should make good.

Drills will be continued for the rest of this week and next, with a chance that the Panther coach may extend the sessions through a third seven-day period. Just a chance.

Tonight, the Pitt basketball team will be feted again, a number of Pitt alumni and Braddock business men having combined to tender the unbeaten national cage champions a banquet at the Edgewood Club.

Morenz Tops Worters As Most Valuable

MONTREAL, March 27.—(AP.)—Howie Morenz, center player of the Montreal Canadiens and leading individual scorer in the National Hockey League, has been adjudged the most valuable player to his team, thereby gaining possession of the Hart trophy for the next 12 months.

Morenz was voted the most valuable player award by a committee of hockey writers representing each city on the big league circuit. Out of a possible number of 140 votes, Morenz received 123.

Thus the Hart trophy, donated by the late Dr. David A. Hart, father of the manager of the Canadiens, will remain with the club for the second consecutive year, having been won last season by Herb Gardiner, defense man.

Second to Morenz was Capt. Roy Worters, goal keeper of the Pittsburgh Pirates, with 82 votes. Eddie Short, of Boston, received 78; Georgie Hay, Detroit, 73; Ching Johnson, of the New York Rangers, 31, and Frank Nighbor, of Ottawa, 28.

At the same time, the National League headquarters announced that Frank Boucher, of the New York Rangers, had been voted the Lady Byng trophy, donated by Lady Byng four years ago, to be awarded a player who best combined effectiveness with sportsmanship.

HANS STEINKE WINS OVER WLADEK ZBYSZKO

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP.)—Hans Steinke, German heavyweight grappler, gained a victory over Wladek Zbyszko in a finish wrestling bout at Madison Square Garden last night, pinning Zbyszko to the mat after one hour 25 minutes and 15 seconds. Zbyszko attempted to work a flying mare on the German, who eased out of the hold and placed a body hold and arm lock on his opponent. Steinke weighed 235, Zbyszko 217.

Jim Londos, 195 pounds, wrestled 45 minutes to a draw with Paul Jones, so-called Texas Terror, 205, in the semi-final. Renato Gardini flopped Joe Zickmund, Nebraskan, with a flying mare in 41 minutes of a 45-minute bout.

MOODY, CLEMENTS SCORE KNOCKOUTS

CLEVELAND, March 27.—Bob Moody, of Pittsburgh, Negro national junior-heavyweight champion, knocked out Manuel Sapp, of Detroit, in the second round here last night. Leo Clements, of Pittsburgh, knocked out Nick Gavin with a wild swing in the first round after he had been floored twice himself and was tottering on the brink of defeat. Freddie Smith, of Pittsburgh lost to Vito Mazzeo, of Cleveland, and Andy Iovine, of Pittsburgh, did not appear for a return bout with Pete Mazzeo.

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP.)—Cowboy de Luca of Pittsburgh scored a decision over Charles Nuzzio of New York in the 147-pound division of an intercity amateur boxing tournament at the New York Athletic Club last night.

In the 135-pound class Andy Andrucci, Pittsburgh, defeated John Sullivan, New York, by decision.

The bouts were of three rounds.

Kinsey is the Californian who played sensationally in a number of national tournaments in the United States.

EARL SANDE TRAINS ON BELMONT TRACK

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP.)—Jockey Earl Sande, recently reinstated in good standing on the turf, is now galloping horses at Belmont Park in preparation for his return to the track. He was scheduled to report at Joseph E. Widener's stable in Kentucky, but changed his plans to await the arrival of Widener's stock due here within a few days.

Girl, 16, Breaks Two Swim Records

CHICAGO, March 27.—(AP.)—Sixteen-year-old Jane Fauntz of the Illinois Women's Athletic Club, who many critics were certain would never regain her stroke because of an automobile accident last summer, today held two new world's swimming records.

Leading the I. W. A. C. to an easy 48-to-16 triumph over the Canadian champions, the Parkdale Dolphinets of Toronto, last night, Miss Fauntz shattered the international records in the 100-yard and 100-meter breast-stroke. In addition, the I. W. A. C. relay, a teammate, Violet Martin, broke the national mark in the 40-yard back-stroke and Walter Laufer, Lake Shore Athletic Club, Chicago, who swam in a special event, excelled his own two-year-old national record in the 300-yard medley event.

LARGE CROWD EXPECTED AT "Y" AMATEUR SHOW

One of the largest crowds of the season is expected to attend the fourth and final amateur boxing show at the Young Men's Hebrew Association next Thursday night when a nine-bout program will be presented.

Ben H. Giffen, chairman of the boxing committee, has arranged an attractive program, bringing together the best amateurs in Western Pennsylvania, and indications are that the show will be filled with action from start to finish.

The Y. M. H. A. gymnasium is one of the largest in the city and will accommodate more than 800 fans.

GOLDENSONS TO MEET ST. MICHAEL'S FRIDAY

The original St. Michael's team of last season will be the opponents of the Goldensons Friday at the South Side Market House. As both quintets are from the South Side much rivalry exists and one of those bitter and hard fought games that keep the fans interested every minute is expected.

St. Michael's lineup boasts some well-known players in Mike Carrick, the two Seibel brothers, Ski Twyman, Chick Hood, Hatzen, Smith, Bykowski and Stein.

ning next Saturday. This will be the first major tournament in which Schettler has had the opportunity of playing.

TAUGHT BY FATHER

Schettler learned to manipulate the bishops, castles and knights at his father's knee in his native Berlin almost as soon and as naturally as he learned to talk. His ability improved steadily with the years and while still a youth he was recognized as one of the outstanding players of Berlin, a city where chess is religiously played, and in which there are more than 50 chess clubs.

At the age of 23, he won the championship of the Province of Brandenburg, in which Berlin is located, and on other occasions ranked high in major tournaments in which he competed against some of the best players of Europe.

PLAYS SIMULTANEOUSLY

For three years he was the champion chess player among the 60,000 employes of the Siemens-Schuckert works, gigantic German electrical concern.

Three times since coming to America Shettler has played simultaneous matches in which he has faced from 11 to 17 players at once. Passing from table to table, he made his moves after only a fleeting glimpse at the board and then passed on to the next opponent. He lost to only two of these players.

EMANUEL BOUT FLOPS

SANDLOT BASEBALL

by TOM BIRKS

THE Pittsburgh Umpires Association will hold a meeting tonight, and plenty of fireworks are expected at the session. Whether the members of the newly-formed organization will be on hand is not known, but last season's officials should be on deck to close up the year's business.

Sandlot managers seem to be enjoying the fact that two organizations will be bidding for business this season. But it seems as if the newly formed body will only try and line up the better leagues. One thing is sure, there ought to be some better umpiring than the sandlots saw last season.

If any more teams are formed in the police department it should be able to form a league of its own. Central with Jimmy Rae in control has its outfit and now Lawrenceville swings into the limelight with a club sponsored by Serg. Morgan O'Brien. The strip outfit will be captained by Joe Hudak, with Bill Sloane in the lineup.

The Greater Pittsburgh loop should be a good league this season. The Homestead Aces led by Tommy Martin and Jack Fertig will give the opposition plenty of fight. The Stanley Meadwells, Immaculate Heart, Hazel Glen, and the Kovals from Braddock round out a good loop.

The J. L. Thomas club of Bloomfield, members of the City League, have one of the snappiest uniforms seen on the sandlots for many moons. A white suit with the name Thomas emblazoned across the front in the same manner that the St. Louis Cards have their emblem tacked on.

Despite rumors that the Bloomfielders would not be sponsored by J. L., the East End sportsman is back again in fine shape.

Some new clubs will be seen in the Pennsylvania League this season. Greensburg is going to have more competition than in the past. New Kensington will be back with Latrobe also on deck. Vandergrift expects to have a good contender but Wilkinsburg will be among the missing. The loop will be a six club affair.

Palmer A. C. of Donora is again looking forward to a big season on the sandlots. The club will open April 22 at Palmer Park. The twenty eighth will find it meeting St. Vincent's College at Beatty, Pa.

Foster Dinger who was a member of the Homewood Works Industrial League team last season, has signed with Greensburg in the Pennsylvania State League. Dinger is one of the most promising catchers in the district, and by careful handling in the state loop should be quite an asset to Guy's team.

The Stanley-Meadwells of Carrick will be members of the Greater Pittsburgh League this season. George Jordan will manage the club with home games being staged in the re-modeled Carrick Park.

Managers of the eight clubs in the City League are to meet at the Reliance Life Company's offices tomorrow night to draft a schedule for the 1928 season. Gene Bovie, league president, is to preside. The City League now is closed and only team managers are to be admitted.

DUNDEE

again settled down and coasted to the finish.

The final bell was a welcome one for Carpentier, who was glad to last the limit. At no time was he in the fight, although he tried courageously, continually walking into Dundee only to be battered off with as fine a two-fisted attack as any visiting fighter has shown here in ages. The shifty Dundee was cool and collected at all stages and set his own pace. His attack was featured by a ripping right uppercut to the head and over the heart as Carpentier moved in and often it appeared as if he would lift off Carpentier's head with it. He also hurt Carp with pounding rights and lefts to the body which reddened the skin and resounded throughout the arena. Carp couldn't hold him in the clinches, where Mike blazed away with both fists.

CARPENTIER HELPLESS

U. S. never before looked so helpless in a local ring. He appeared to be afraid of Mike's renowned wallop before the fight started and soon found he had reason to respect it, and, after the first few uppercuts and body smashes had gone home, he lost all of his usual life and snap. He fought a colorless bout, with his ability to absorb punishment and keep going the only redeeming feature. His mouth was badly cut inside and required the application of collodion on the lips to stop the flow of blood. Dundee had an old cut over his left eye opened in the sixth round and it bled slightly.

Carpentier weighed 127½ pounds and Dundee 129 at 3 p. m.

A strong finish by Young Rudy of Charleroi, 136¾ pounds, in the last three rounds, after blonde Georgie Harris of Niles, O., 134½, had outboxed him decisively up to that point, earned the decision for Rudy in the eight-round semi-final. Right smashes to the body slowed down Harris and put Rudy in the running after his bad start.

SIMMONS REPEATS WIN

Jack O'Connell of Cleveland, 168½ pounds, fought in his usual roughhouse football style in the second bout, using backhand blows and elbows and wrestling throughout, but suffered his third straight defeat in four meetings with Stanley Simmons of the South Side, 174½. Simmons had his right eye cut in the fourth round and was a bloody mess at the finish, but did the cleaner punching and most of the forcing. O'Connell was warned several times for roughing.

Eddie Raven of the North Side, 132¾ pounds, lost an unpopular but fair verdict to Jimmy Belmont of Braddock, 136½, in the eight-round opener. Raven's head was bloody but unbowed almost throughout and he rallied to score a knockdown for a count of eight over Belmont in the sixth round. Belmont with physical and boxing advantages, fought a poor bout, as usual spending most of his time Marathoning about the ring and forcing his opponent to chase him.

Joe Keally and Al Grayber alternated in handling the bouts. A. C. Couch was the timer. The crowd was slightly larger than last week and the bouts as a whole were better.

Ban Placed On Dempsey

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP.)—Gene Tunney, world's heavyweight champion, will be placed on the ineligible list in New York state unless he accepts by next Tuesday one or all of the three "top" challenges now on file here, the New York State Athletic Commission announced today. The "top" challenges, in the order named, are from Jack Sharkey, Tom Heeney and Johnny Risko.

The commission pointed out that Tunney could not be suspended here because his New York license has expired.

The boxing fathers at the same time announced that Jack Dempsey, former titleholder, would not be permitted to meet Tunney in New York until the champion had disposed of the three "top" challengers. A third Dempsey-Tunney bout, the commission held, "would be purely a financial transaction with no chance of the title changing hands."

The champion also will be required to fight twice this year to keep within the good graces of the commission which ruled that no exception to the rule requiring titleholders to defend their crowns every six months could be made in Tunney's case.

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

ner, there appears the name of George Godfrey, the Negro heavyweight.

IF MEMORY serves, Godfrey's name did not appear on any of Rickard's elimination tourney lists, and even since he defeated Paulino Uzcudun in California recently, Rickard has been ignoring him while trying to figure out how he could work Jack Sharkey, Tom Heeney and Johnny Risko into a series of bouts to develop an opponent for Champion Tunney.

A system that bars anyone is not fair nor sportsmanlike. Godfrey has as much right to try for the championship as anyone else. They may call him a front runner and say that he is good only against someone whom he knows he can beat, but that remains to be seen. In any event, he is entitled to a chance, and Fugazy and Mullen have scored a point over Rickard in fairness in giving it to him.

TO PLACE amateur billiards on the program of the Olympic Games in 1932 is the aim of a group of amateur cueists and cue enthusiasts whose leaders include some Pittsburgh men who at this time prefer to remain anonymous.

Edouard Horemans.

It is, of course, too late to hope to have the ancient pastime placed on the lists of the competition in Amsterdam, but the proponents of the plan are optimistic over the chances of having cue competition at the international games four years hence.

The idea is meritorious, for billiards undoubtedly has the best claim of any sport to the title of the universal game. Its devotees are to be found, a local observer cites, not only in every center of civilization, but in the sparsely settled corners of the earth. Though pros will not be eligible they serve to show how vast is the cue realm. Every country in Europe has its champions, amateur and professional, and one of the latter, Edouard Horemans of Belgium, is now 18.2 champion of the world. Eric Hagenlacher, a former pro champion, is a German.

It is played in Turkey, where such an Olympic sport as hockey, or ice-skating is unknown; it is a favorite pastime of the little brown men of Japan and their philosophical brethren of China. Men chalk their cues and "cuss" over the same shots in the shade of a desert oasis as in the new low wooden halls in the snows of Alaska. They play it in Mexico and Ireland, in Singapore and Oshkosh, Wis.; wherever men get together.

AND it's real sport, too. It takes as much backbone to win a billiard tournament when the going is tough as to win in any other contest. Only recently a celebrated sports authority said that in his opinion it is the hardest of all competition.

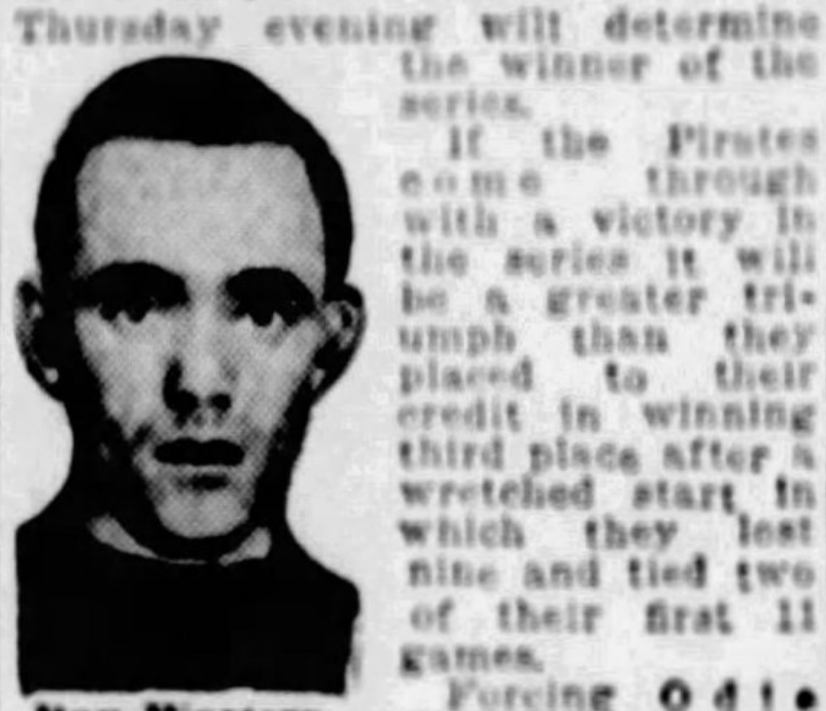
Eric Hagenlacher.

It takes skill and nerve, plenty of both, qualities such as the Olympic games aim to develop and foster.

Balkline billiards, of course, would have to be the basis of competition, for some of the other cue games so popular here, three-cushions, for instance, are not played in many other countries. And there would be problems to adjust, too, since, for example, the game of English billiards is a lot different from the billiards played almost everywhere else, and John Bull's cueists would have to be taken care of in some way.

Further developments are expected in the campaign in the near future.

PITTSBURGH'S hockey team (though you'd never guess it was Pittsburgh's if you had only the playoff schedule to judge from and noted that all the games were to be played in New York on the enemy's own ice) tonight will fight the first round of the post-season battle in New York. Total goals in the two games tonight and Thursday evening will determine the winner of the series.



Roy Worters.

If the Pirates come through with a victory in the series it will be a greater triumph than they placed to their credit in winning third place after a wretched start in which they lost nine and tied two of their first 11 games.

Forcing Odie Cleghorn's skaters to play all of their extra games away from home would have been grossly unjust and unfair under any conditions, but it is all the more unsportsmanlike when you consider the particular handicaps that playing in Madison Square involves.

The lighting system there makes the heat terrific and puts the players under a terrible strain. As it is their home rink, the Rangers have become accustomed to this heat, but a visiting team is always under a severe handicap there, and some of its players generally wilt before the finish.

BEFORE the team left for New York last night, Manager Cleghorn said his starting lineup tonight would be Worters at goal, Burke and McKinnon on defense, and Milks, Darragh and Cotton on the line. The secondary line will be made up of White, McCaffrey and McCurry, with Smith and Drury as spares. Drury was still under par in yesterday's workout, but thinks he will be able to play in a pinch.

With total goals dividing the series, much will depend upon Worters at goal, but the little star never was in better form.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 27.—(AP.)—Byron Bancroft Johnson, former head of the American League, was here today to rest and to attempt a recovery from the illness which compelled his retirement from baseball. He is visiting his brother, W. R. Johnson.

EVERYBODY fears YOUR COUGH —and so should you, for it is often infectious and dangerous to those around you.

A safe and agreeable way to relieve coughs is to take PERTUSSIN, which has been used for twenty years in the successful treatment of harsh or painful coughs—even the most severe. PERTUSSIN is entirely free from "dope" or harmful drugs, yet it brings quick relief by helping Nature to expel the sticky phlegm that often clogs the air passages.

Sold by all druggists in large and small bottles.

old and his bride is only 17. They plan to settle here. Mike Dundee, who is married and has two small sons, also will move here, according to Curley. Mike spent his boyhood here, on the South Side, where a married sister now lives. The boxer is a cousin of Phil Gentile, the veteran basketball star.

Pete Zivic boxes Steve Nugent of Cleveland in the semi-final to a bout between Willie Harmon and Tommy Freeman, at Cleveland, Thursday night.

The card has been completed for the show at the Washington Gardens, Washington, Pa., next Monday night. Steve O'Malley of Bellaire, O., and Battling Spenolle, formerly of Ohio, but now of the North Side, will meet in the 10-round main bout, Happy Davis of Pittsburgh and Banty Reihner of Washington, Pa., in the semi-final, Louis Posito of Bellaire and Jack Griffith of Pittsburgh in the second bout and Eatem Giles of Washington, Pa., and Dan O'Banyan of Clairton in the opener.

Jack Barry will box Ditty Woods and Frankie Gordini will meet K. O. Morris in the feature bouts of a smoker to be held for the benefit of the Fifteenth Ward Republican Athletic Club in its hall, 4429 Second avenue, tonight. A comedy bout also is listed, along with singing and dancing.

Ditty Woods, Hazelwood, 124-to-pounder, is in training and ready to meet any of the local talent his weight.

They had Al Grayber in a tough spot as referee of the Jack O'Connell-Stanley Simmons bout at Motor Square Garden last night. Jimmy Dunn of Cleveland was in O'Connell's corner and Red Mason behind Simmons. Both managed Grayber when the latter was boxing.

Joey LaGrey, Johnstown welter, boxes Harry (Kid) Groves in a 10-round bout at Cumberland tonight.

Young Guido, of Niles, O., has been matched with Allen Beatty, Negro welterweight of McKeesport, for the semi-final to the Phil Goldstein-California Joe Gans bout at McKeesport Thursday night, completing the card.

rain," remarked the left-hander in his quiet, even tone, then continued his walk to the clubhouse.

Dutch is a man of few words. The Pirates have been marooned here for five consecutive days.

WILBUR COOPER is one of the aces of the Oakland team. The former star of the Pirates seems to possess most of the cunning that was in his remarkable career with the Pirates. There are those who think that Cooper could win more regularly than any lefthander attached to the team since his passing.

COOPER'S feat of winning 105 games in five consecutive seasons surpasses any slab feat in Pirate baseball lore. And the southpaw was able to do this with a club that was not up to the punch on exhibition in the past four or five seasons.

THE former Pirate wished to be remembered to his many Pittsburgh friends when I talked with him in the Oakland clubhouse yesterday. Quite a few of the Oakland stars renewed friendships with members of the Pittsburgh club. Several members of the Oaks played with Joe Harris at one time or another.

SIX Pirate games in a row have been cancelled by wet weather. In all 14 games were scheduled in the San Francisco district, only five of which have been played.

when they decided to play their "home" games in the playoffs of the American group of the National Hockey League at Madison Square Garden here.

The Pirates, who meet the New York Rangers tonight, have played three hours and 10 minutes in five games at the Garden this season and have scored only one goal.

Against the Rangers they were eaten, 1-0, 2-0 and 4-1, and against the New York Americans they obtained one point in a scoreless tie. The Americans also blanked them, 1-0.

Government Employes Lack Incentive, Explains One.

By B. C. FORBES

ONE government employee, commenting on a recent column, explains interestingly why many government servants fail to extend courtesy to the public.

Representative William W. Cohen, New York, writes that, in his official capacity, "I have yet to experience one instance where complete co-operation and helpfulness were not forthcoming from government employes."

Some of the letter writers apparently deduced that I was against paying government employes well. I'm not. What I tried to indicate was that perhaps one reason government employes have not received more generous consideration has been that too many of them have failed to inspire the good will of taxpayers coming into contact with them.

REPRESENTATIVE COHEN, Seventeenth District, New York, in writing as follows of his experiences, apparently overlooks the fact that he would be a short-sighted government employe indeed who showed discourtesy to a Representative of Congress.

"As Representative in Congress of the Seventeenth Congressional district, I have had constant occasion to use the services of the employes of the government since March 4, 1927, and I have yet to experience one instance where complete co-operation and helpfulness were not forthcoming. It is hardly fair to condemn the thousands of efficient, conscientious workers because of one, or even several, isolated cases of the kind you feature.

"In all my business experience, I have never met with such unfailing courtesy, co-operation, prompt attention, utmost consideration of seemingly insignificant matters, not only by the heads of the departments but by the lowest subordinates.

"When I consider the salaries received by the government employes, the pension and retirement program under which they work, I feel that they are entitled to praise and not adverse criticism for their work and their attitude toward their work.

"I know that you are always ready and willing to be absolutely just toward everyone, and feel positive that you will be glad to hear from me in defense of the underpaid, and, general belief notwithstanding, often overworked government employe, and I trust that you will lend the influence of yourself and your column to bring about an improvement in their working conditions—their pay, pension and retirement systems."

AN employee of the Philadelphia Navy Yard, in course of a comprehensive letters says:

"I have heard it said before, and I must admit there is possibily some truth in it, that government employes as a class are not as courteous as they might be.

"If a man in a commercial concern is continually on the job and improving himself at all times, and by doing so feels that he is increasing his worth to his concern, he is privileged to ask his employer for the reward to which he is entitled, namely, an increase in salary, and ten chances to one, if he has improved as he thinks he has, his employer will grant it to him.

"On the other hand, should a government employe expend efforts to increase his worth, what is his reward? You are no doubt aware that each government establishment is allotted a certain amount of money at the beginning of each fiscal year to pay the salaries of its employes at certain fixed rates. The money allotted is only sufficient to cover the salaries of the establishment, and in the absence of a surplus for the purpose, there is no way of increasing the salary of a meritorious employe. Furthermore, the standardization of government positions discourages the practice of giving one employe a higher salary than another employe of like rating, regardless of ability.

"There is absolutely no incentive for the government employe to do better work. The result is that in time the government employe takes his employment as just a daily routine which he must go through and a state of mind such as this breeds anything but courtesy. I believe that government employes are just as capable as those of commercial concerns and if given the same incentive, will be just as courteous and render just as good service.

"I trust that in your extensively read column you will do all you can to help the working conditions of the many government employes. They are to be pitied rather than censured."

I BELIEVE that everyone should be paid all he deserves — government employes will naturally help their cause by convincing everyone, through courtesy and efficiency, that they deserve more salary.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, March 27.—There was no change in the raw sugar market early today, with sales reported of about 16,000 bags of Porto Rican in nearby positions at 4.58c delivered, 20,000 bags of Cuban to an outport refiner at 4.58c, and 14,000 bags of Philippines for May-June shipment to an operator at 4.63c.

The raw sugar futures market was not very active and it appeared as if operators were inclined to limit operations and await developments at tomorrow's meeting in Cuba relative to the disposal of the 200,000 tons of reserve sugar there. The undertone, however, was steady, and the fact that refiners continued to show interest in raws at prevailing levels, discouraged any aggressive selling and seemed to encourage a little covering and commission house buying. The market opened unchanged to one point higher and continued at that level throughout the entire forenoon. The refined sugar market was unchanged with refiners listing at 5.80c to 5.90c for fine granulated. New business was still light and seemed to be taken care of by second-hand offerings at 10 points under refiners' quotations.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Sales Break All Records.

Today's turnover was by far the greatest in the history of the New York Stock Exchange. By 2 o'clock more than 3,700,000 shares had changed hands. The market was a sensational affair, changing color as the hours rolled by. Reports from the floor described it as bedlam, with the members struggling as never before to fill the orders which poured in on them from all sections of the country.

Fifteen-to-One.

The trading community was frightened by the market commentators' reaction to John J. Raskob's statements that General Motors was entitled to sell at 15 times its earnings, or 225, based on assumed earnings of $15 a share for the current year. It was noticeable that all the optimistic forecasts were of earnings for "the first six months." No one said a word as to what will happen in the final months of the year. It is the doubt as to the result of that period that is causing the quite heavy profit taking in stocks under cover of the fireworks. One brokerage firm asked if the stability of the motor industry over a period of years justifies the conclusion that motor stocks should sell at 15 times their earnings. If that were so, it contends, the prices of securities representing far more stable industries are too low. The example pointed to especially was International Harvester. It earned close to $19 a share on the common in 1927, but sells at less than 14 times its earnings. Furthermore, Harvester has a book value of over $233 a share and a current asset ratio of close to seven to one of liabilities. Other companies afford similar interesting comparisons with Motors on the idea of selling at 15 times the earnings.

American Woolen.

The American Woolen Company during 1927 made a profit of $2,193,877 before deducting depreciation, or $800,112, equal to $1.79 a share on the 400,000 shares of preferred stock, after deduction of depreciation amounting to $1,397,565. This was shown by the report of President A. O. Pierce at the annual meeting of the stockholders here today. For the year 1926 a net deficit of $4,535,445 was shown and for 1925 the operating profit after depreciation was $949,172. After deduction of dividends on preferred and subsidiary stocks for 1927 a deficit of $121,594 resulted, compared with deficits of $1,777,594 in 1926 and $2,535,576 in 1925. The surplus December 31, 1927, was $11,175,473.

President Pierce pointed out that the company during the last year experienced a lack of demand for its products somewhat similar to that of the year preceding, but without the falling raw material market that marked 1926. Economies effected during the year, which President Pierce considered were factors in the showing made, included the closing of several unproductive mills and the sale of another. Tenement property was advantageously disposed of. The preferred dividend due April 1, 1927, was paid as usual, but on June 6 the directors decided that it would be unwise to continue payment of preferred dividends from surplus, stating that they would be resumed as soon as the earnings of company warranted. "It is of course obvious that that time has not yet arrived," President Pierce said.

Selling Comes From West.

Much of the selling in the stock market was from the West. There was nothing in the way of special news developments of which the public had knowledge to account for the sudden change except that as a protest against a 10 per cent cut in wages by General Motors of Canada, about 250 employes of an Ontario plant walked out. A good deal was heard about selling having been in progress from Detroit yesterday which was heaviest in General Motors, but that selling seemed to have been well taken care of in yesterday's operations. The market calmed down somewhat near the end of the second hour, and support buying was effective in bringing sharp rallies in many of the leading issues that were forced down during the earlier trading. General Motors, which sold as low as 180, rallied more than 9 points, and United States Steel, General Electric and others had good recoveries.

Central Ohio Steel Offering.

E. W. Todd & Co. will offer tomorrow $400,000 of 7 per cent preferred stock and $240,000 of 15-year 6 per cent first mortgage bonds of the Central Ohio Steel Products Company. The preferred carries a bonus of one-half share of common with each share purchased.

American Smelters.

American Smelting and Refining Company, which pays $8 dividends annually and earned $19 a share last year and $23 the year before, will retire $4,750,000 of its first mortgage 5 per cent bonds, series B, next week. According to Simon Guggenheim, president, the company is planning no splitups or extra dividends, the inference being that the surplus earnings will be applied to extinguishment of the funded obligations, the next batch of which is callable in 1939. Mr. Guggenheim thinks the business outlook is satisfactory and has noted a distinct improvement in sentiment in the last 30 days. "Of course," he says, "until the outcome of the presidential election has been discounted, there will be as usual some disposition to postpone the launching of new activities. Our business is currently running about as it did last year. There is at the moment a pickup in the European demand for zinc and lead. Lead is quoted lower than a year ago, but I think it is now at the bottom. There is no accumulation of copper stocks, in accordance with the policy of the industry to produce in accordance with the trend of demand."

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, March 27.—Speculative selling of corn weakened the corn market early today and brought about something of a setback in wheat. Better weather for the movement of corn was a bear factor. Opening at ¼c decline to ⅝c advance, corn later underwent a general drop. Wheat started at ⅜c off to ⅝c up and subsequently averaged lower than yesterday's finish. Oats were easy. For the most part provisions showed a downward trend.

At noon corn was ⅛@¼c net lower and wheat unchanged to ⅝c up.

With clear skies and cool temperatures forming a sharp contrast from yesterday's unfavorable weather conditions, corn traders flocked largely to the selling side of the market today at times. Additional reasons for selling were found in liberal primary receipts and in relative failure of corn export business to develop the volume which in various quarters had been looked for. Under such circumstances, buyers of corn future deliveries were scarce except at declines. Comparative strength of March delivery of wheat was a feature in the wheat market. Deferred deliveries were bearishly affected not only by sympathy with corn but also by more favorable crop comment and by larger domestic receipts of wheat. There was some talk of possibilities that the United States wheat visible supply total on Monday next would show an increase.

STOCK RIGHTS OFFERED

Lone Star Gas developed further strength in the first half of the session on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today, moving into new high ground for current trading and reflecting the effect of the accumulation which has been in progress for several days.

Initial transactions in Lone Star were at 55, equal to yesterday's top figure, but after a few hundred shares were taken up at that figure, there was a jump to 55½, at which price the stock remained stationary for some time. While Lone Star's outlook is considered as favorable as that of any of the major gas companies, unofficial reports are that the weather in its distributing territory has been somewhat unfavorable and the first quarter's results may not be as satisfactory as some observers had anticipated. Nevertheless, the stock is highly regarded as a semi-investment, and holders of the issue are strongly confident of the future.

Explanation of the strength in Lone Star came during the afternoon when it was announced that stockholders of record April 10 will have the privilege of buying additional shares at $25 a share on basis of one new share for each three held. The rights expire May 25. There is outstanding at present $27,967,275 of capital stock of $25 par value.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, March 27.—The cotton market opened steady today at an advance of 4 to 8 points in response to fairly steady Liverpool cables and overnight buying orders on yesterday's reports of showers in the eastern belt. The outlook was for clearing weather in the East, however, and the market eased shortly after the opening under realizing or liquidation by recent buyers and local or Wall street selling, probably promoted by reports of an easier tone in the stock market. May sold down from 19.58 to 19.40c, while October worked off to 18.97c, with active months about net unchanged to a shade lower at the end of the first hour.

Private cables said there had been some London and continental liquidation in Liverpool, but reported an improved demand for cotton cloths from Egypt and the Near East.

The market later sold off to 19.41c for May and 18.91c for October, making net declines of about 5 to 10 points. Offerings tapered off at these figures, however, and the market was quieter at midday with the active months showing rallies of 3 or 4 points from the lowest on covering.

STOCKS BREAK IN HECTIC SESSION

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP.)—A wide open break in stock prices, followed by a partial recovery, today brought to a dramatic climax a spectacular "bull" movement of nearly four weeks' duration. Extreme declines ran from 5 to nearly 20 points, but half of these losses were made up in the early afternoon recovery. So great was the volume of trading that the ticker fell nearly 35 minutes behind the actual market before mid-session, with indications by the end of the third hour that the day's sales would exceed the record of 4,176,200 shares established yesterday.

There was nothing in the day's news to explain the sudden decline, which was generally characterized as a natural sequel to the unbridled speculation of the last few weeks. Stiffening money rates, threatening the continuance of an abundant supply of funds for securities speculation, may have been a contributing factor. Conservative bankers had frowned on the recent antics of the market, and their warnings may also have had wide influence.

General Motors, which attained a record high price at 199 in the last few minutes of trading, opening at the spread price of 198 to 196 and then plunged to 180, dropping from 185 to 180 between sales. Nearly half of the loss was recovered in the noon-day rally. Radio, after dropping from 157½ to 146¼, soared to 161, or 5 points above last night's close. Du Pont fell from 394⅝ to 380½ and snapped back to 386, and Sears-Roebuck dropped from 110⅝ to 97½, and rallied to 105⅞. Sharp recoveries also took place in General Electric, Montgomery-Ward, Hudson Motors, American International and other speculative favorites.

New York Central came to the front in the afternoon by moving up 3¼ points to 178, a new high record, and Rock Island advanved 2 points to a new top at 115⅜. Sloss-Sheffield, soared nearly 8 points to a new high at 133½, and Gulf States Steel moved up 1 to a new peak at 60¼.

Mme. Schumann-Heink.

Those thousands who came to hear Schumann-Heink in Syria Mosque last night were wonderfully repaid. Armed with handkerchiefs and her perpetual good humor, she sang valiantly over a cold, and won the day in glorious fashion. During the intermission, the Allegheny County Committee of the American Legion paid the singer a lovely tribute and presented her a testimonial of their esteem of her services in behalf of ex-service men and women of the World War. The audience stood to do her further honor while she spoke, in her delightfully naive manner, a word of reminiscence of Pittsburgh and a word of farewell. It was her last appearance here.

The program seemed to have been chosen to depict episodes in Schumann-Heink's own life, as we know it from her recently published memoirs. There was her Italian style in the Mitrane; her spirit of the church in Before the Crucifix; the great musician in the three Schubert songs (she added the Erlking as encore). In Liszt's Gypsy song she philosophized of life; there was motherhood in her lullabies; the passionate lover in Grieg's romance; the lover of life in the sweeping tune of Becker's springtime. Dawn in the Desert allowed her to make a panorama in tones; she brought her comic spirit into her dance melodies, and then a magnificent farewell, her benediction and touching tribute to the soldier in Taps.

For me, the great moment was when she sang the pleading strophes of Waltraute from the Dusk of the Gods. If you know the music of Bayreuth, Schumann-Heink sang it; sang it, mark you, for Richard Wagner knew his music could be sung and need not be shouted. During this scene, her one-time opera spirit returned, and this everlasting contralto gave her audience again a taste of the Golden Age. With her dying tones, I could not help seeing this last of the great Walkyries riding to Walhalla.

Florence Hardeman played two groups of violin numbers, and Katherine Hoffman, Schumann-Heink's old standby, played her usual splendid accompaniments.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

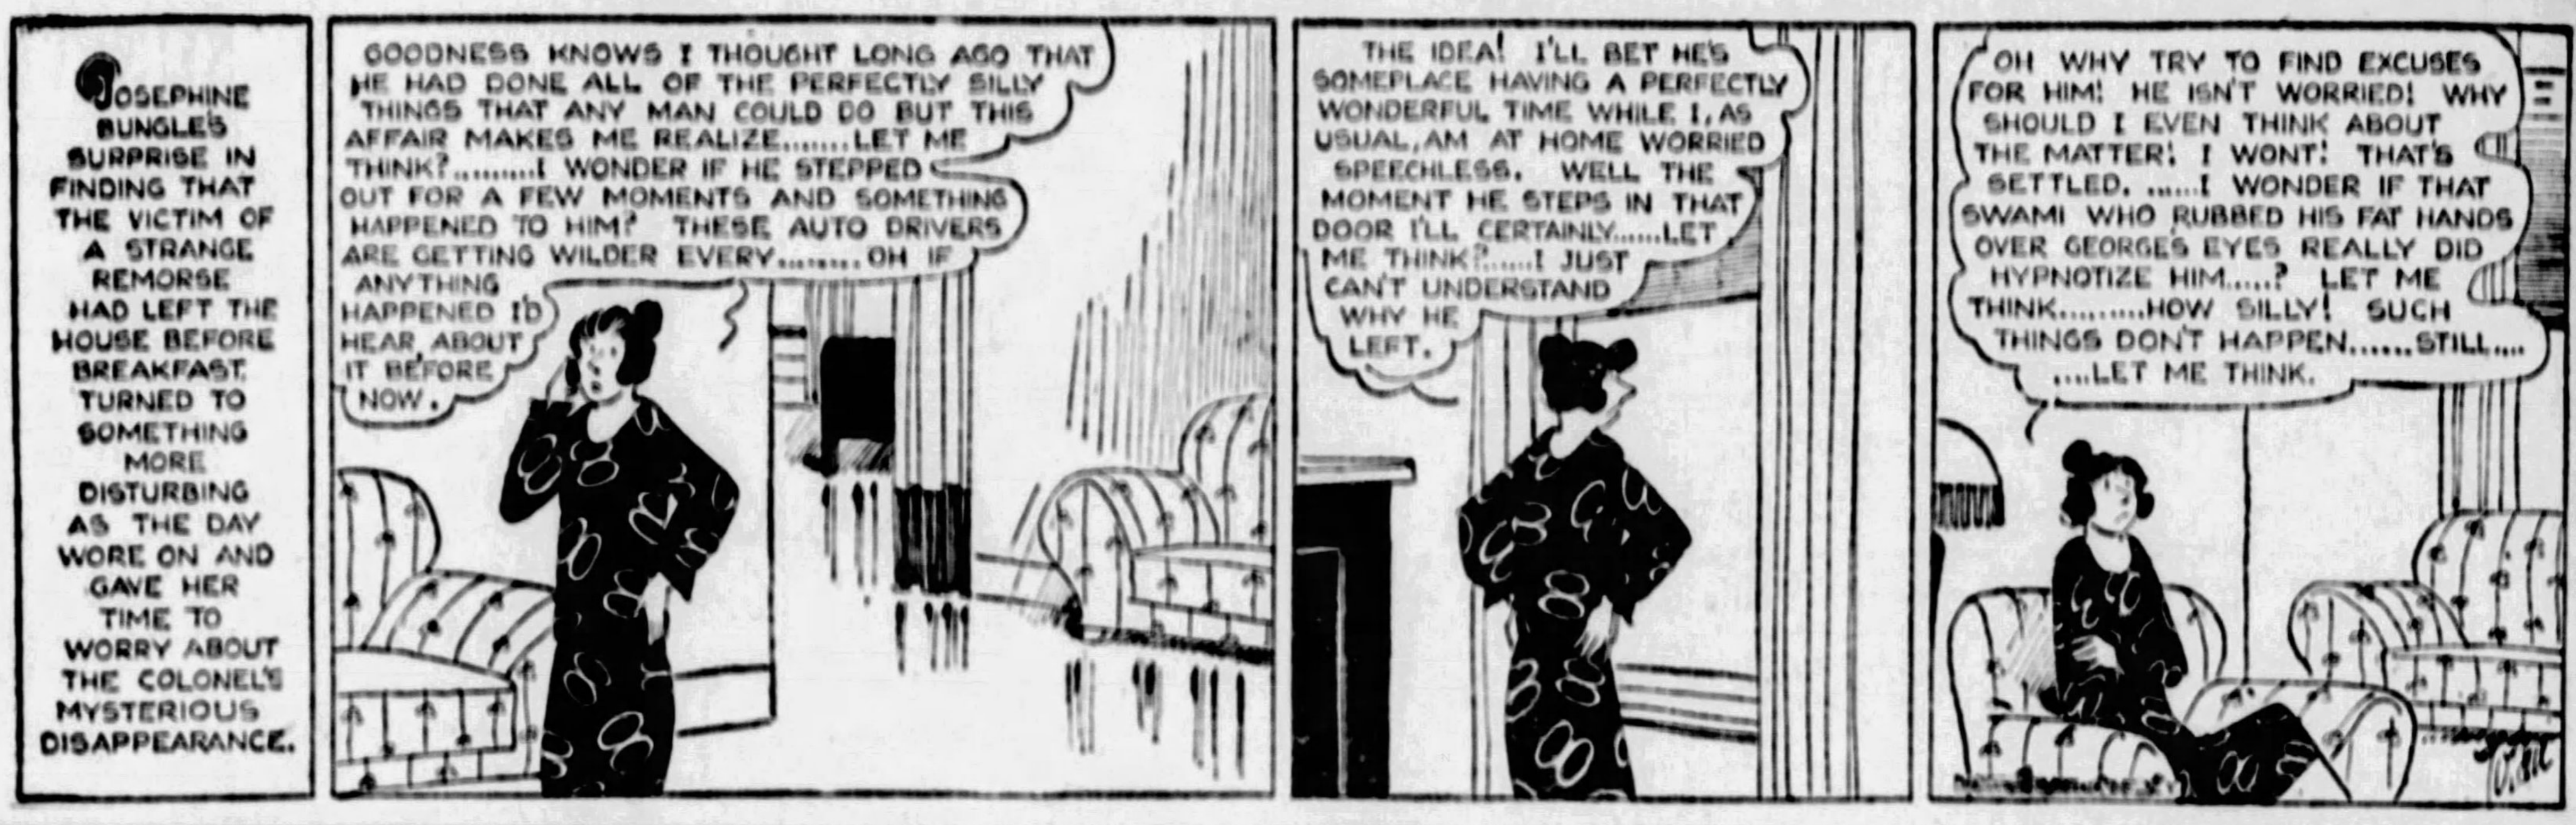
THE BUNGLE FAMILY

Gone



JOSEPHINE BUNGLE'S SURPRISE IN FINDING THAT THE VICTIM OF A STRANGE REMORSE HAD LEFT THE HOUSE BEFORE BREAKFAST TURNED TO SOMETHING MORE DISTURBING AS THE DAY WORE ON AND GAVE HER TIME TO WORRY ABOUT THE COLONEL'S MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.
GOODNESS KNOWS I THOUGHT LONG AGO THAT HE HAD DONE ALL OF THE PERFECTLY SILLY THINGS THAT ANY MAN COULD DO BUT THIS AFFAIR MAKES ME REALIZE.......LET ME THINK?.........I WONDER IF HE STEPPED OUT FOR A FEW MOMENTS AND SOMETHING HAPPENED TO HIM? THESE AUTO DRIVERS ARE GETTING WILDER EVERY.........OH IF ANYTHING HAPPENED I'D HEAR ABOUT IT BEFORE NOW.
THE IDEA! I'LL BET HE'S SOMEPLACE HAVING A PERFECTLY WONDERFUL TIME WHILE I, AS USUAL, AM AT HOME WORRIED SPEECHLESS. WELL THE MOMENT HE STEPS IN THAT DOOR I'LL CERTAINLY......LET ME THINK?......I JUST CAN'T UNDERSTAND WHY HE LEFT.
OH WHY TRY TO FIND EXCUSES FOR HIM! HE ISN'T WORRIED! WHY SHOULD I EVEN THINK ABOUT THE MATTER! I WONT! THAT'S SETTLED. ......I WONDER IF THAT SWAMI WHO RUBBED HIS FAT HANDS OVER GEORGE'S EYES REALLY DID HYPNOTIZE HIM.....? LET ME THINK.........HOW SILLY! SUCH THINGS DON'T HAPPEN.......STILL.... ....LET ME THINK.

THIS WAGGISH WORLD

by Roy K. Moulton

FIGHTING POTATO BUGS

UNCLE SAM is getting ready to pull up his socks and do something for his army. Turn about is fair play. His army has done quite a lot for him. At the present time soldiers who have to wear old one-man-top uniforms and live in shacks which a thrifty Vermont farmer would not use for chicken coops, are naturally a little discouraged. Fighters must live in comfort and not be all tired out with farm work when the next war comes.

NOT getting much dinero from the old Unk for their services in peace time, on account of a lack of appropriations, the soldiers have to work out to earn a living, shoeing mules, pursuing the festive boll-weevil and picking pieplant on farms around the Army posts, and already the parents of the country are beginning to sing: "I did not raise my boy to be a potato bug fighter."

A soldier is willing to face the shot and shell, but not the insect powder.

In regard to the matter of uniforms, soldiers are no dudes, but they do not care to dress in the mid-Victorian style, when officers wore tight pants buckled under the instep and the Civil War cap, with the sloping front porch, was de rigeur.

However, at a recent distribution of "new uniforms" to the troops, it was discovered and complained of by a staff officer that most of the uniforms had been made before the World War—those famous paper uniforms—and intended for use in that conflict only. A few were relics of the Civil War, although it was said Spanish War uniforms were quite noticeable in the lot. If that is not hot fodder for the troops from the generous hand of the richest country in the world, we'll pass and ask for a new deck.

It is said the whole Army slept until noon the other day, as there was nobody to wake it up. The bugler had left before dawn to take on a new cow-milking job in the next township. It's all right to be a hero, but a man has got to eat.

IT IS being warmly hoped by friends of the army that Congress will find time from its politics this session to furnish some barracks for its fighting men which will not resemble corrals in the Argentine. A good way to bring this about would be to force the statesmen to leave their Washington hotels and clubs and live in these barracks for one week. They would not forget to pass another army appropriation in quite some years.

The Secretary of the Navy has recently put up quite a talk in behalf of a new lot of boats, etc., so in case there is another war the government will have something to shoot with.

Foreign governments will not allow us to raise the muzzles of the guns on our boats, for then we could shoot just as far as the enemy and, with our marksmanship, the enemy figures this would be an unfair advantage.

But, at least, the sailors get their board and room. The roofs of the Navy do not leak and whenever it rains a certain number do not have to go up and sit on holes in the roof to keep the sleeping comrades dry.

During a recent heavy rainstorm at an army post, one soldier drifted on his pneumatic mattress, floated down the river and to the bay where he joined the Navy. Some of the soldiers have a streak of luck that way once in a while.

So far as has been reported, courses in milking, plowing and horseshoeing have not been introduced into the curriculum at West Point and the army officers will have to learn these things after they are graduated.

An army that can live through this kind of peace is never going to be afraid of any kind of war. For, when there is a war, starvation is over and the boys hear the gladsome yell:

"Grub pile! Come and get it!"

Liberty Bridge Opening Points to Future Needs

The Liberty Bridge, Allegheny county's newest and greatest viaduct, today becomes part of the service arm of the public, its own magnificent gift to itself, through the instrumentality of the county commissioners' office. A beautiful and mighty structure, it represents a forevision of the great sweep of suburban development which, in a few years, has transformed the South Hills into such rapidly growing communities that even the Liberty Bridge is only a small part of the improvement that eventually will be necessary as a result of the expansion there.

Appropriately, the bridge is thrown open with pageantry and a public demonstration participated in by county and city officials and civic organizations of city, borough and township civil divisions materially benefited by the addition of the new structure to the arterial traffic system of Pittsburgh and its environs. School children taking part in the ceremonies today will live to see that their participation is to be a factor in a more closely knit fabric representing a more intimate association of the city proper and its sons and daughters to the south.

If the bridge is a product of foresight, looking to the time when it would be as vitally essential as its completion finds it to be, it also is a pointer to the necessities of the future. Already projected are other improvements, kin to the Liberty Bridge and Liberty Tubes, the fruition of which is long in the future, but the need for which already is being felt. Additional penetration of the territory south of the Monongahela is a constant process and it is required of the greater civic body, for its own comfort and convenience, that it meet the traffic pressure already manifest in no inconsiderable degree.

The County Commissioners, for months, have been preparing a list of improvements, covering many projects for which there is great need, in all parts of the county. Like the Liberty Bridge, their completion will be a matter of years after they are authorized by the voters. Let us get about that part of it as quickly as may be.

We Want No Hate Bonds

The American people are now being trained to perform in the third act of the play we have come to know as "The Great World War Bamboozlement."

We are now to pay the tribute which the Allies exacted from Germany.

In Act I we were gently but firmly slipped into a European war that was none of our business. We were assessed thirty thousand million dollars for our share of the great dramatic production, and we loaned the Allies ten thousand million more to meet their costs.

In Act II we were induced to cancel over half the ten billion of loans to the Allies. The "present value" of our debt settlement is figured at four billion—meaning that that is all we stand any chance of getting back.

Act III will beat them all. We are slated to pay the indemnity which the Allies levied on Germany at the treaty of Versailles.

Edwin L. James, European director of the New York Times, cables the plot in a dispatch from Paris dated March 23. The United States is continued in the role of the great boob.

The Allies, particularly France, do not want to wait for the billions of war indemnity. Besides, the Germans may quit paying. Can't France get it now, when the getting is good?

Certainly. The Reparations Commission holds sixteen billion marks of reparation bonds, a first lien on the earnings of German industries and railroads. Sell them to United States investors for three billion dollars.

Then the American investor, instead of the Allied governments, will do the waiting for Germany to pay. Incidentally, the Germans will then hate us instead of their conquerors, for their annual war tribute will have to be paid to United States citizens.

Further, the plan continues, the Allies will take the three billion dollars raised by this sale, and use it to pay in full their debt to the United States government. That knocks another billion off the sum they agreed to repay us. That is, seven billion instead of six billion of the Allies' debt to be saddled on the American taxpayer.

The plan, Mr. James tells us, is now being eagerly discussed by "international bankers, including, of course, American bankers." They know, he says, that the American government has declared against any such scheme. But, he reports, "it is evident that the bankers believe that the public opinion of all countries" will support them.

There is no such public opinion in the United States. This country stands behind President Coolidge in his refusal to consider further debt cancellation.

This country stands behind President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon in refusing to connect German reparations to the Allies with Allied war debts to us, which is the plan broadcast by Mr. James.

We want no hate bonds transferred from the Allies to our investors. We don't want the American government saddled with the job of keeping Germany under pressure to pay its war indemnity.

We don't want the savings of our investors used to buy for the American people participation in future European wars.

President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon would do their country a service by making this perfectly clear to Mr. James' "international bankers."

Expel Dope Sellers From United States

Federal Judge Jacobs, of Los Angeles, gave a four years' sentence in the penitentiary to John P. Chew, who pleaded guilty of selling cocaine, morphine and opium.

The papers heralded it as "a very heavy drug sentence." The truth is that it was not heavy enough.

Intelligent communities are just beginning to realize the seriousness of the crime of selling dope. If a murderer can be hanged or given a life sentence, a dope-seller should be as drastically dealt with.

The murderer, as a rule, destroys only one life. A dope-seller may destroy hundreds. He not only wrecks lives, but makes of every victim a source of further contamination to the community.

Dope-sellers should be imprisoned for long terms at hard labor and, when their prison terms are over, they should be expelled from the country.

The dope addicts should be treated in sanitariums and cured if possible. If not, they should be segregated on some island, as the lepers are segregated on Molokai, so that they cannot infect the hosts of youths in the country.

Only such radical measures will root out the dope evil.

Let us have heavier sentences for these enemies of society. Let us pass the Porter bill providing two prison farms for curing the wretched dope addicts now herded into the Federal penitentiaries.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Scientific Jargon

HERE is a sharp indictment with an ironical flavor which seems to me to have considerable justification. Professor W. B. Munro avers that: "The earmarks of social psychology, thus far, have been crude generalizations and fantastic claims. Still, it is only fair to say, on behalf of psychology, that it has taken the first step on the way to become a real science; it has already succeeded in providing itself with a technical jargon which is incomprehensible to the ordinary man. It has managed to translate many self-evident commonplaces into foggy language."

The indictment really lies against the sciences older than psychology. They all have the same tendency to develop a jargon, unintelligible in many cases despite the aid of the most up-to-date dictionaries. Each separate science thinks it must have its own dictionary, but when the essential meanings of its technical words and terms have been finally put into ordinary language, it is apt to be the case, as Professor Munro remarks with regard to psychology, that no profound new truths are found embedded in the strange neology, but only things that might have been expressed better in the vernacular.

The excuse, of course, is made that special scientific vocabularies are time-savers. They are also shop languages, not intended to be spoken by outsiders. They save words (though upon the whole that may be doubted), and they clarify ideas, (yes, for the adepts perhaps, but certainly not for others).

What they unquestionably do is to build a wall between the general educated public and the scientific laboratories and workshops. No one can object to the occasional invention and introduction of a new word or term, provided that it is positively needed to express a new thing or a new idea. But when the existing vocabulary of a language suffices to cover such needs it is a disadvantage to human intellectual intercourse that a shoal of novel, and as often happens, repellant, uncouth and unpronounceable, manufactured words should be thrust upon it.

A direct injury results from the facility which new scientific jargons give to pretenders, quacks, impostors and humbugs to impose upon the public through that strange influence which bombastic, unfamiliar and learned-sounding phraseology exercises upon minds untrained in critical judgment. Every time a "new science" invents a vocabulary of its own, pretended experts seize upon it and with its aid exploit the credulity of the uninformed.

Separate vocabularies for different branches of science likewise tend to keep the workers huddled together, each set in their own cavern. Keep this up long enough and it will become impossible to think of science as a unit. There will be as many sciences as there are languages that only their adepts can understand. And when none can make itself clearly understandable to mankind in general, what advantage will the world derive from all this ado of research for research's sake?

The extent of the evil may be glimpsed by what anybody can see of the tendency in the so-called natural history sciences to pile up hundreds of new names, long, awkward, involved and often laughable, invented solely for the satisfaction of personal vanity. Constructing them out of Greek or Latin roots simply emphasizes the useless artificiality of the process and is the cause of some of the ridiculous effects produced, which are not advantageous to the repute of science.

A Babel dispersion produced by science would be worse than that which blew mankind apart on the plains of Shinar.

Futile Death Penalty

THE reason given by the social service committee of the New Jersey Methodist Conference why the death penalty should be abolished is not the strongest reason, but it is undeniably true.

"Juries and witnesses shrink from rendering a verdict that will result in death. Consequently, as a result of wealth, influence or shrewdness of counsel, the criminal, in a large majority of cases, is set free or is convicted of a lesser crime."

Capital punishment is not only unsuccessful as a deterrent of major crime, but it is demoralizing. For corrective it substitutes retributive justice, flying in the face of Christian precept and making the state itself a murderer.

Moral progress and social welfare both demand that it be ended.

Once Overs

By J. J. MUNDY

Think of the Elders

IN your neighborhood or the sections through which you pass every day, somewhere in a suburban village there may be a man who has lost all interest in life because no one pays any attention to him.

It should not be hard for you to step into his cobbler's shop or his little home and visit with him occasionally.

All over, everywhere, there are old men who are lonesome.

More than anything else they crave someone to whom they can talk.

In many cases they have interesting things they could tell.

They have intelligent ideas for discussion.

But suppose they have not.

You should be willing to be bored a little if you can bring joy into the lives of these drab characters that more active people forget.

The saddest thing in life is to be unable to go about at will and enjoy what this great world affords.

There is little in life to the old person who is left alone day after day, year in and year out.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

By Night

THE swift years like spent candles fade,
Beneath night's shining cavalcade
Of stars that drop beyond Earth's rim,
And memories that day made dim
Spread wide their petals' pale delight
As moonflowers greet the lamp of night.

Old memories, too rare and sweet
For garish hours of toil and heat,
By night come back to live again,
Made brighter, purged of dross and stain;
Made perfect, as the thought of one
Whose walk in earthly ways is done.

Old laughters echo in our ears,
Old hopes return, old loves and tears;
And though stern Time can bar the way
To Youth's fair gardens through the day,
Each rare and cherished lost delight
Is ours, in Fancy's realm, by night.

Tales that are Told

Habit

SITTING inside the bus was an old gentleman. He looked very lonely as he read the last word on the last page of the evening paper.

Suddenly he turned to the conductor, who was entering some figures on a sheet.

"I don't know how you fellows manage to do all the writing you do when the bus is traveling over roads as bumpy as this," he said.

The conductor put away his pencil and grinned cheerfully.

"You get used to it, sir," he returned. "When I want to write a letter at home I have to get the wife to shake the table for me."

Thirsty

DINNER, unfortunately, was a little late, and a guest asked the hostess whether she would be kind enough to play something.

Seating herself at the baby grand, she executed an admirable excerpt from Wagner. She finished, but there was still a few more minutes to wait, and in the rather painful silence she turned to a deaf old gentleman on her right and asked:

"Would you like a sonata before dinner?"

Her guest gave a start of surprise and pleasure.

"Thank you," he replied. "I had a couple on the way here, but I think I could manage another."

Car-avaners

SHE sighed as she lay snugly in his tight embrace. He kissed her passionately once, twice, thrice, then sighed and broke away.

"Dear"—he had difficulty in getting the words out—"dear, we will have to leave the old place at last."

She looked up, startled, a hurt, soft look in her eyes.

"Don't say that—I love this place. When the moon and the stars are out it is heaven. I thought that at last we had come to a heaven of perfect rest. I am so tired of roaming!"

He looked at her tenderly.

"I am sorry," he said firmly. "But we must go. You see, they only allow you to park for one hour here."

"Forewarned Is—"

THEY had not been married so very long and, consequently, had an unusually large number of presents to send off.

Eventually came the day when they decided to buy the personal presents for each other.

"Gina," said George. "Could you give me an idea of how much you intend to spend on my present?"

"I could," said his wife; "but what do you want to know for?"

"Well," replied her husband, a trifle embarrassed, "when I know what you're giving me I shall know how much I'll have left to spend on you."

That Slim Silhouette

THE office-boy and the typist in a city shipping office were both addicted to repartee.

The boy, by the way, was red-headed, short, and stocky; the girl, a tallish blonde, was very slim.

The typist was intently pounding her machine when she felt the boy's gaze on her back.

"Well," she snapped, "what's on your little, narrow mind now?"

"You always make me think of Friday."

"And why?" she asked.

"No meat!" was the brutal answer.

Isn't It So?

New York Day by Day
by
O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 27.—A New York lecturer opines newspaper columnists have become the modern preachers. "The scientists," he says, "have taken away the people's God and now they turn to the philosophers of the press for spiritual stimulation."

As flattering as that sounds, it isn't correct. The mass of newspaper readers turn from columns with either: "He's a nut!" or "Rather clever, but silly!" I do not know of a columnist who has waged a successful campaign for anything.

In the old days the cartoonist used to be effective in stirring enthusiasm for popular reforms—Nast and Davenport, for example—but lately the cartoonist's province is chiefly to illuminate a current topic. People are doing a little more thinking for themselves, it seems.

The vogue of the newspaper column is now at its height. The columnist is granted more liberty than ever. He is often in opposition to the definite policy of his paper. But largely he wears cap and bells and clowns for his clientele.

He often amuses, but I doubt he is ever taken very seriously. And publishers more than anybody realize this. Every New York paper now has one or several local oracles who high dive, flip flop and pose in the manner of the window batter cake juggler.

As one of the guild, I have never noticed one regarding his job with any great pomposity. If he does, he is kidding himself. Newspaper columnists came to journalism in much the same manner vaudeville caught on in the world of the legitimate theater—it offered variety. Nothing much else.

As long as that variety has spice it will endure and no longer. Almost every columnist is asked how to start a column. The question is difficult. They are spawned by chance and, like Topsy, just grow. No columnist can give a satisfactory answer as to just how he became a columnist, or how long he will remain one. Any day he may find a new boy occupying his desk.

The most thrilling moment of the theater this season was in a play dealing with vaudeville life back stage. On a rope stretched from the stage to the top gallery the performer tip-toed his perilous way over heads of the audience and slid for life to the stage again. This stunt made a wow of a mediocre play.

* * *

Several department stores have manicure booths for little rich children. Their nails are done regularly, and then it is presumed they go back to their mud pies.

* * *

Morningside Drive is the baby's paradise. In no section of New York are so many babies seen. They are trundled out in their carriages early and often remain in the open until dusk.

It is noticed stage players have not been afflicted with incompatibility—or whatever they call pouting—this season. Not one has stamped his or her foot and rushed from the theater with a nose in the air bristling with indignation. Temperament has either gone out of fashion or jobs are not so plentiful and, being the mean-tempered soul we are, we suspect the latter.

Absinthe—frapped or dripped—is on sale in many speakeasies. It is sold at $2 a shot and its popularity lies in its lingering wallop and the fact it only takes one or two to make the drinker "that way." So easy has it become to get the drink, it is reported a number of thrill seekers have become absinthe addicts. No drink creates such a craving or offers such a short and spectacular finish. In the days of the saloon there were even saloon keepers who refused to sell it because of its degrading effects.

A visitor writes to New York newspapers that his objection to the metropolis is that there are no places to sit down. If it continues to worry him, I'll be glad to forward the address of my favorite skating rink.

'Real' Population of U. S.

By DR. FRANK CRANE

According to the Interior Department of the government, every American family of four persons has 11 electric slaves working for it.

There were 80,000,000,000 kilowatt hours of power consumed last year and if converted into manpower that equals 11 electric slaves and costs the family about $75 a year.

This is the real population of the United States.

The day has passed when the census of a nation, to be properly understood, should include only human beings. China contains 400,000,000 or so, but those millions are not nearly so effective as the much fewer people in the United States because the American people make much use of the forces of nature.

A man would make very slow progress in cutting down a tree with a jack knife, but with a buzz saw he can get along much faster. With his hands alone it would take him a long time to harvest a field of wheat, but with a McCormick harvester he can do much more than with his own unaided strength.

Man is a tool-using animal and every tool multiplies his efficiency by just so much.

Civilized armies conquer barbarians not because the soldiers of civilization are braver or stronger, but because of their superior weapons.

America raises more produce than China, not because Americans work harder and are stronger, but because they call upon the giant forces of nature to labor for them.

A man produces not so much by his own strength as by his ability to use all forms of power.

The automobile has replaced the horse because it never gets tired, and when it comes to an upgrade it does not go slow, but actually increases its speed.

The population of a country, therefore, is not to be numbered by its human units so much as by the ability of these units in some way to call upon the genii of nature to do their work for them.

The time is coming when machinery will do almost all the hard work of humanity, leaving human beings free to perfect their leadership and become great managers.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

You Can't Take Things Easy in 1928

GLADYS ELLIS is 46 and very unhappy.

When Gladys was 16 she was pink, pretty and placid. So was Glady's mamma. So was life. Very little speed, tension or pressure in 1898. No automobiles zooming down the highway—no jazz orchestras or cabarets—no regiment of girl workers hurrying to offices—no movies—no lady voters—no jangle of phones or hullabaloo of radios. Everything quiet, slow, safe, rather stupid—folks didn't have to be very wise or efficient to get by in 1898. By the time they were 40 or 45 they "let down and took things easy."

Glady's mamma was just about as energetic as a contented carrot when she was Glady's age. Did her housework in the morning. Sat and rocked on the veranda in the afternoon, gossiped with the neighbors, did a little fancy work. A nice woman, a good woman, but a sluggish woman, mentally and physically. Didn't read a real book or have a new idea once in a blue moon.

Everyone liked Glady's mama. Everyone said what a fine wife and mother she was. No one dreamed of criticising her. She didn't have to exert herself in the least to gain this enviable reputation. She simply sat on her shape and let the world go round.

And now Gladys is 46. But Gladys isn't happy and contented or comfortable, nor is she accumulating a lot of admiration and respect by following mama's technique. She longs ardently to "let down and take things easy." She doesn't want to think or debate or struggle. She detests all these new fangled diets and budgets and systems and exercises for keeping mind and body in order. She only wants to be let alone. But the world won't let her alone.

The world doesn't think much of ladies who live pinkly, placidly and prettily in 1928. It sniffs and laughs at them and tells them to "snap out of it." Their husbands grow tired of them—their children criticize and disobey them. It's tough going for lazy humans, in this twentieth century.

And why shouldn't it be?

Why shouldn't we keep on moving as long as we are alive?

Why should we surrender before our days are half done and let our brains and bodies accumulate lard?

And why should we expect respect and admiration from the younger generation, simply because we have the record crop of hardened arteries and fallen arches?

An Interesting 'If'

IT WILL never be possible to know with certainty whether our country, if it had been strongly armed in 1914 and had supported its neutrality with firmness against both belligerents, might not have escaped the World War creditably.

Gen. Ely thinks it would, and we have respect for any well trained military man's opinion on such matters.

But whether it would have escaped or not, it would have saved lives and much money. Preparing AFTER a war has begun is ALWAYS wasteful.
